

IMPORTANT TO SOLDIERS.—The State Legislature at Harrisburg recently passed a bill, which provides that the discharge papers of soldiers who served in the late war may be recorded in the Register's Office in each county. In this way the fact of having an honorable discharge from the service may be preserved by the soldier; but a copy of such county record according to existing rules, will not supply the place of the original discharge certificate in case of an application to the government for bounty, land, back pay, etc., in all such cases the certificate of discharge itself must be produced to the proper authorities at Washington. Soldiers should remember this and carefully preserve their certificates of discharge from being lost or destroyed whether they be recorded in the office of the county recorder or not.

AN INFANT MURDERER.—On Saturday a poor woman, named Zell, living in Jenny street, near Ann, left her room to go upon an errand. She left, playing upon the floor, her infant child. During her absence a boy three years old entered the room. He found the baby playing with some blocks of wood. Prompted by some horrible instinct of fiendishness the boy seized a poker. When the mother returned the baby was nearly dead. One eye was put out, one arm broken, and probably some of the ribs. The child can scarcely recover. With the infant murderer of course nothing can be done. How the fell spirit of Cain could take possession of so young a child, let moralists answer.—Philadelphia Evening Herald.

A GOOD WIFE IS ONE who puts her husband in at the side of the bed next to the wall, and tucks him to keep him warm in the winter; splits the wood, makes the fires in the morning, washes her husband's face and draws on his boots for him; never scolds, never suffers a rent to remain in her husband's small clothes; keeps her shoes up and her stockings darned; never wonders what her husband sees interesting in the young woman who lives across the way, and always reproves the children when they eat their father's supper.

LAWYER AND THE IRISHMAN.—While a number of lawyers and gentlemen were dining at Wisasset, a few years since, a jolly soul from the Emerald Isle appeared and called for dinner. The landlord told him he should dine when the gentlemen were done. "Let him crowd in amongst us," whispered a limb of the law, and we will have some fun with him.

The Irishman took his seat at the table.

"You were not born in this country my friend?"

"No sir, I was born in Ireland."

"Is your father living?"

"No sir, he is dead."

"What is your occupation?"

"A horse jockey, sir."

"What was your father's occupation?"

"Trading horses, sir."

"Did your father cheat any one while here?"

"I suppose he did cheat many sir."

"Where do you suppose he went to?"

"To heaven sir."

"And what do you s'pose he is doing there?"

"Trading horses, sir."

"Has he cheated any one there?"

"He cheated one, I believe sir."

"Why did they not prosecute him?"

"Because they searched the whole kingdom of Heaven, and couldn't find a lawyer."

The second great period in the life of the young man—the first being a tail coat and a cheroot—is when he gets a girl, so to speak. About that time most sidewalks are quite too narrow for his outstretched taps, two chairs or a whole sofa are hardly equal to a seat, and the stars must look out sharp and they will get a rub from his lofty tile. Quiet, modest people should not think it strange if they find themselves walking in the street, elbowed out of breath at the concert or lecture, and drowned in their order for cream and coffee at the saloon. "The young man who just got a girl—in other words, reached the second great period of his great life—must be expected to exhibit demonstrations that are extraordinary if not gorgeous, and impressive if not profound.

REMARKABLE IF TRUE.—The Salem (Ind.) Times says:

Auber Halls of Howard township, Washington county, had a cow, which was delivered of twenty-eight calves in one day. The two largest are about the size of ordinary twin calves, the next largest about one-half size, and the remaining twenty-five about the size of an ordinary rat. They are all dead, mother included, except the two largest, which are doing well. We had the statement above given from Mr. F. himself, and from several neighbors of his who witnessed the sight, and who are as fully entitled to belief as any person in the world. This is the most singular freak of nature, of the kind, of which we ever heard.

Mr. Whitworth, the gun manufacturer, has just made a free gift of $100,000 to found thirty scholarships to be held by workmen who will go through a thorough course of scientific and artistic training.

No grindstone should be exposed to the weather, as it only injures the wood-work, but the sun's rays harden the surface of the stone so much, in time, to render it useless. Neither should it run in water, as the part remaining in the water softens so much that it wears away faster than the other side; and many a "soft place" in a stone has arisen from this cause alone, and not from any inequality in the grit.
