Mr. J. C. Kemp, from Center Hill, the other day stopped his wagon at our office, and gave us a look at the goods he carries, manufactured at the Milroy woolen factory. We must confess to have never before seen so fine a lot of goods,-Cassimers and Jeans-as Mr. Kemp is now supplied with, embracing every variety of style, and at prices astonishingly low. His goods can not be surpassed by any of the kind in the eastern markets. He also has an assortment of flannels which will recommend themselves, as also his fine stocking yarn. In the line of carpets his samples are of the first order, and his prices acceptable.

Mr. Kemp will call upon our citi-
