Speaking of churches reminds me of what Mr. Homan said, that the Methodists always built their churches on top of a high hill, so they would be nearer Heaven ; I told him that was right ; yes, he said, but after the people leave the church they are in danger of backsliding coming down the hill; there is more truth than poetry in the above.

The Methodists are holding a protracted meeting at Centre Furnace; already there have been ever twenty conversions and the good werk still continues. Rev's Cleaver and Colburn are the preachers; they are well liked by the people; they have also commenced a protracted meeting in Pine Grove. The fourth quarterly meeting for this circuit was held at Pine Grove, on Sabasilis cturday and Sunday, Jan. 16th and 17th.
