Million Dollars.

The last bulletin of progress upon the Union Pacific Railroad gives some remarkable facts. The first is that one thousand miles are finished and in operation west of Omaha, reaching across and beyond the Rocky Mountains and into the valley of Great Salt Lake. Great as is this fact, it can only be duly appreciated when we consider how short has been the time within which it has been accomplished. Three years ago only forty miles were built, two hundred and sixty-five miles were added in 1866, two hundred and seventyfive in 1867, and about five hundred miles in 1868. Such rapidity of construction has had no parallel in all the history of railroad engineering. But even these statistics, startling as they are in their magnitude, do not tell the fairly elected Democrats from their seats. whole story. It is when we bear constantly in mind the fact that the starting-point of this road had no railroad communication when the work was betary plausible pretext. Not one member who has any reputation to lose, ventured to advocate the corrupt claim of Anderson. A foul-mouthed, empty-headed brawler from Pennsylvania, named John H. Sto-ver, who escaped the penitentiary to be-come a member of Congress from Missou-ri, supported the infamous claim in a coarse speech. Covode, who expects to get his seat by a similar process, and the carpet-baggers, who hold their seats by a tenure as fraudulent as that of Anderson, voted against Switzler. Thus was consummated a fraud which would disgrace a congrega-tion of cut-purses.

The Old Guard for February.

The high tone and vigor of this sterling Democratic Magazine, which was so espcially marked in the January number, is still more apparent in the present issue. The Old Guard wears well, not only sustaining the reputation which its six years' publication has won, but it improves, like good wine, the older it grows. The February issue is replete with political, literary, and miscellaneous matter. "Religious Inequality of Human Races," by the editor, is especially worthy of attention. "The Club of the Panther," by W. Gilmore Simms, Esq., keeps up its interest. "Forgotten English Poets,' 'The First Edition of Shak espeare," "Mohammed as Prophet," are and very readable, and the Book and Ediitor's Tables were never better. Sin gle copies, 25c.; $3 per annum. This cornering business has become an outrage in every sense. Business is deranged, joint-stock companies are bankrupted, banks are frightened, the finances of even the Government are mpeded, and our country at large is disgraced in our own eyes, and in the estimation of the whole world.

A remedy should be sought and applied. It appears that the courts are powerless or corrupt. If not corrupt, they can not act in time to prevent direful havoe to the country when

The remedy is simple. It lies in this channel : so far as Government securities and gold are concerned, let Congress prohibit any time sales, under a heavy fine and imprisonment; and so far as State securities are concerned, let the Legislature enact that nothing be sold, by any person within the State, to be delivered on a future day, unless the seller actually possesses the articles sold at the date of the sale, and actually keeps it on hand with which to make the delivery. Let this enactment provide for severe punishment.

These laws will kill every "bear," whether in stocks, gold, produce, or merchandise. A "bull" becomes a myth-he does not exist-unless "bear" is on hand.

Kill the bears. Then there will be no cornering, no tampering with the This may be taken as a sample of their money market, no over issues such as the Erie clique did last year, and again quite recently.
