For the Reporter.

Ed. Reporter :- As in some quarters there P a disposition to heap all blame upon the Directors for the increase of the superintendent's salary. I begleave to ask, in ortendent's salary. I beg leave to ask, in order to a fair understanding.—Will it be denied that the move originated with the su-perintendent? Will it be denied that he solicited the names of Directors to a petition to the State Superintendent, praying that official to call a convention of Centre county directors to increase the salary ?

Allegheny county and Lancaster, have upwards of 500 schools each, and pay their superintendents $1200 a year; Centre co. has only 190 schools, and the superintendent's salary is also $1200, equal to the largest counties in the state! Ex-Director. For the Reporter. CO. SUPERINTENDENCY. POTTER'S MILLS, Pa., Feb. 22. '63. Mr. Editor: Permit me, through the columns of your paper to say a few words more to your correspondent, A. A. Kerlin, who for some inscrutable purpose, or probably from a recent discovery. (like Æsop's fox), that the Superintendency is a "sour grape, is more dogmatical than discreet in giving his reasons for opposition to the blice of Co. Superintendent. In the first place, if my arguments were to go to the public for a verdet upon the basis of abatractness with reference to their foundation, I should be perfectly at ease, even under the superficial scrutiny of the "irre-pressible" who writes over the signature of 'Sam' my arguments are abstract, therefice of the paper published in Bellefon.e fore without foundation. What are these abuses and Mar are these abuses and Merversions, &c.? They can be none other than the fact that our Sup't, legally, and by the authority of the Directors of Centre a list of names, they would furnish him the paper for one year free, the paper was called "The Bellefonte Advertiser," two or three No's came and then the paper stopped. They say H. G. (which means Hor. Greeco., receives $1200 for his services. If he is really sincere in his opposition to the sally) had better employ him to take charge of the educational department of the Triary, and entertains no feelings of animosity towards the present Sup't, if he is in fa-yor of a system of popular education, and bune, as he is so well acquainted with the office of Superintendent. We say to the editors of the Bellefonte National (we have vor of a system of popular education, and the means of bringing it to perfection; then why does he not candidly tell the public that this fault does not lie with the Sup't, not room for the rest of the name) that if you yourselves would make application to but with the common school law which does not provide for fixing the amounts H.
