LOCAL NEWS - Our friends will oblige us by sending in any items of local interest, including deaths, marriages, &c., as such are eagerly read by your friends in the west, many of whom get the Reporter. We would esteem it a favor if our kind patrons would occasionally mail a copy of the Reporter to relatives and acquaintances who formerly lived in Centre county and removed to other parts, which would induce many to become subscribers.

Zell's Popular Encyclopedia still continues to reach us, and we hold our high opinion of the work, as being more complete than any other work of the kind yet published.

The attention of our readers is directed, to this advertisement of Coe's Dyspepsia Cure in our other part of this paper.

Some very desirable real estate in Potter township, is offered for sale in this week's paper by Messrs. M. Allister & Beaver.

During the thunder just on last Monday afternoon, the gable end of the barn of Mr. Daniel Flisher, in the Loop, was struck by lightning. The electric fluid divided at the cone, a portion passing down each side along the rafters to the spouting. Two sons and a hired boy of Mr. Flisher, made a narrow escape, as they were standing at the corner of the barn where the lightning had been conducted away by the spouting overhead. One of the boys was considerably stunned, beyond which they sustained no injury. The opposite end of the barn is rodded.

PENN HALL ACADEMY. As will be seen by an adv. in another column, the full term of this institution will commence on 22nd inst. This school has been in successful operation for a number of years. Mr. Rossier, the Principal, is a finished scholar and successful teacher.

The Nursery, for July, has come to hand, this is just the magazine for little folks. Published in Boston, at $1.00 per year.

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE for July is before us. Its unrivaled circulation proves it the most popular of the ladies' magazines. The present issue is one of the best we have seen. A capital steel engraving, "The Romance of a Boarding School," with a laughable story by Ella Rodman, leads off; then follows a charming and original fashion article, with illustrations of the latest fashions, bathing dresses, &c., &c., besides a score of patterns for neckties, collars, and an alphabet for making dresses in colors. The literary contents, as usual, are excellent. Mrs. Ann Stephens continues her powerful novel, "Marie Antoinette's Tale," and Frank Lee's "Married by Mistake" is one of the best love stories we have read for a long while. Now is a good time to subscribe for "Peterson." Terms $2.00 a year. To clubs five copies for $10.00. Peterson, 305 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia.

REBERSBURG, CENTRE COUNTY, PA. IN compliance with the following resolution, passed by the Inter-county Convention of School Directors of Centre County:

RESOLVED, That it is the desire of this Convention that the County Normal School be re-opened at Rebersburg after and in accordance with its instructions given in School Journal, May, 1888, a session of this Institute, under the control of the County Board of Education, will commence on WEDNESDAY, JULY 28, 1893, and continue ten weeks.

The course of instruction will be that suited to the wants of our Common Schools. The Literary Societies will meet once a week.

All the books used can be procured at Rebersburg.

Students will not be required to pay the County Superintendent any fee for teaching. A tuition fee, sufficient to pay the Assistant Teachers, will be charged, which will be raised by assessing an equal amount on each pupil.

Three annual sessions of this Institute have already been held, and their fruits are plainly seen in the advancement of our schools. It is hoped, therefore, that teachers will avail themselves of the opportunities offered by the Local Normal, in the non-existence of a State Normal School in the District.

TUSSEY MOUNTAIN BOY.

For the Reporter, SANITARY COMMITTEE.

Mr. Editor - Allow me a short space in your columns for the purpose of putting the citizens of your quiet and orderly rural village on their guard. A vigilant Sanitary Committee should at once be appointed as a watch over the terrible malarial disease that is raging in that place. It seems that one, McCreesh, is violently seized of mania, and that his case is one of very afflicting nature, at least he exhibits great signs of distress and weakness.

Evidently he has been "gently laid away to rest for the season," but he will not likely be laid any more to "shell corn, but sort top feed, such as do other little chores." Suchness, such pitiable objects are sure to start the sympathies of the sensitive. Active and immediate measures should be taken to save this victim from disappointed hopes, which are now so sorely and previously rearing upon him.

Would a little country air be good for him? Would a scene and the like? Wonder how an invitation by a Picnic would affect him? Whether he would be able to survive the fatigues if he had a piece spread with a little lettuce, or sprinkled over with a little sugar. A little milk, slightly warmed, taken through a quill is very nourishing and would, no doubt, be very trying for one of his age and habit. His protracted regard for the ladies no doubt is one cause of his mania. A person, only in that state of mind, would be a most pitiable and shameless view of what is strictly proper, good taste and in every sense commendable, by all right thinking, common sense people. This mania is attacked with a peculiar and peculiar affection. Wonder, after all, if his complaint might not be that of which little children sometimes complain, no doubt caused by eating "musty ginger-bread."

Of why did you slight me, ye prodigal? Why single me out to be left all alone, to be taunted and teased, to wait and to moan?

Would my pleasures be less on that Picnic day, Though the dainties are served in this or that way? No, but would I go and be filled with a hush.

TO PHYSICIANS. New York, Aug. 15th, 1867.

Allow me to call your attention to my PREPARATION, N. D. EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBES, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION. - Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine oil. Cubebes extracted by displacement by liquor obtained from Juniper Berries, containing very little sugar, a small proportion of spirit, and more palatable than any now in use. The active properties are by this mode extracted.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists generally, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a diuretic destroys this (its active principle), leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation preponderates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopoea, nor is it a Syrup, and therefore, it is more palatable than any other preparation of this kind, and more efficacious.
