CENTRE HALL REPORTER.

FRIDAY, APRIL 15th, 1870.

For the Reporter. Mother.

Angel mother, art thou watching O'er thy lonely child to night, Is thy gentle spirit guiding Me, into the path of right; Knowest thou that I am longing For a mother's tender care, And my heart with memories thronging, Breathes to heaven a silent prayer.

That although thou art not with me, Here on earth my steps to guide, I may always strive to meet thee Safely at the Savior's side.

Often at the hour of evening When I thrust dull care away, Then I hear a sweet voice calling All my thoughts from earth away.

Then a mystic influence lures me Upward to thy heavenly home, And I see thee smile upon me. Hear thee say: lone wanderer come.

Thus I silent sit, and ponder Over God's mysterious ways; While my heart is filled with wonder Still my soul is filled with praise.

That with thee life's cares are ended, Now forever thou canst rest, And thy happy spirit blended With the holy and the blessed.

STARLIGHT.

For the Reporter.

SPRING MILLS, April 5, 1870.

Mr Editor:—I wish to inform you and the public that we do not intend to be slandered by such a small potato as G. W. We, as a community, think more of our reputation; yet we do not think it has much bearing on the minds of intelligent people, it may leave an impression on the minds of some, yet we hope they will consider the source at least and we think that we are not so ignorant as we were represented. I wish to inform the gentleman that we have a goodly number of men and women who have as much intelligence and more education than he has. Relative to the school, he made some erroneous statements as we have as good a school as there is in the county, outside of the borough, which has been said, not only by ourselves, but by many teachers and superintendents; so that we do not feel hurt at all, but simply wish to inform the people in the county that G. W. misrepresented the Independent District. For a sample of G. W.'s success in the school I will point you to the statistics in the last Reporter, and that is about the best he can present. The gentleman alluded to who has three farms and would not purchase $2,000 worth of books, says he purchased all the books his children were able to study, or understand; and as regards the church, I think we can compete with any intelligent community. As regards people coming in church and not being noticed, it is not to be expected anywhere, and I am sorry to say the gentleman who had the audacity to criticize, practices it himself, and if he wishes to criticize others he should refrain from so doing, and be a little more polite himself. I do not think he has forgotten much politeness; if he has, he has forgotten all he possessed. Now I think the gentleman has got hold of the wrong string this time. I think he will not try it soon again, if he does he will fare pretty nice. I will tell you how he used to speak to his scholars this winter; he used to call them by their right names, and everything but an Hotten'o's, and everything but their right names. Now this is correct and I can prove it and all I have asserted in this article. A man holding a professional certificate to use such language in a school room should be put out in justice to the scholars and patrons. The school has been a failure entirely, this term, and Prof. G. W. does not need to come in to the Independent District for a good reputation. I will refer you to the directors and patrons if this is not the fact. Regarding the literary society he spoke favorably, but he omitted some; the evening we appointed for society, Mr. G. W. appointed singing and was overruled, or our society would have fizzled; then he tried to break it up, but did not have friends enough; and W. B. Krape was against G. W. for President and beat him, and when his term was out G. W. was elected President and that broke up the society at once, and his singing school broke up. Now I advise Prof. G. W. to keep cool and learn and become wise, and then write a sensible piece and redeem his reputation in the Independent District. He has insulted all the citizens in this section. The Prof. took six pills on the head of the article he sent the Reporter, to work as a cure. I think he will fare well soon; his school numbers 16 and his labor is easy. I hope the gentleman will not peep pills on the head of this. VOX POPULI.

A watchmaker in Meriden, Conn., has on exhibition in his shop an old watch, with only an hour hand and a common cutgut for a winding chain. It has a brass case, but was originally enclosed in a huge tortoise shell. The inscription on the watch is "W. Lee, No. 2 165th," making it two hundred and twenty years old, undoubtedly the oldest running watch in America. It keeps excellent time, not varying two minutes a week.

Mrs. Rosa Ann Schardt, of Lock Haven, one day last week, stepped upon a large nail, which passed through the sole of her shoe and into her foot, a consequence of which she died of lock-jaw, a few days following.

Several small boys in Huntingdon amused themselves a few days ago by playing at hanging and came very near turning the farce into tragedy, the breaking of the rope alone saving the life of the lad who had volunteered to become the culprit.

Imprisonment for debt has at length been abolished in Rhode Island.
