

CENTRE HALL REPORTER.
CENTRE HALL, PA., MAY 6th 1870.

The 15th amendment enfranchises only two colored persons in Pennsylvania—both in the eastern end. They are divided—the one is a radical and the other will vote democratic. So the 15th fraud don't boot much in these quarters.

KENTUCKY.

Louisville, April 26.—Specials to the Courier Journal give Lewis, Democrat, a majority of 800 in Warren, 654 in Simpson and 700 in Warren. His entire majority is probably 3,000 or 4,000. Scymour's was 8,000. The negro vote was not full for a lack of organization, but almost unanimous for Lewis. It was an unusually quiet and peaceable election.

Nearly all the rum made in the United States is distilled in Massachusetts, and the distilleries are situated around Boston. A Boston paper, in a recent review of the trade in New England says that the greater part of the export is sent to the African coast, and points with pride to the cargo of a recent bark, which consisted of tobacco, rum and four ministers.

THE RAILROAD.

The railroad must not be lost sight of, neither will it do for our people to depend for assurance the readers of the Reporter that the prospects are still hopeful, and that it only needs that the ball be kept rolling. It is a settled matter that the road will be put under contract as far as Millfinburg shortly—and that almost amounts to as much as saying it will not stop there. Our neighbor, Mr. Wm. Wolf, informs us that he had a conversation with Hon. Geo. F. Miller, recently, who assured him that he was now prepared to grade the road to the Centre county line, and all that he asked was that our country meet him there. Mr. Miller says that he has arranged for the means to extend the road westward from Millfinburg through Hartley. The portion of the road between Lewisburg and Millfinburg, will be left altogether, as we understand, to the care of the latter place, and the Millfinburgers have subscribed the necessary amount to grade that portion and already secured the right of way. From all this, we can infer, that our neighbors in Union county, mean railroad, and Mr. Miller's assurance that he would provide for the portion in his county west of Millfinburg, looks to us as if Lewisburg would put in a good helping hand after all.

Now then, does Centre county mean railroad or not? If so, let her show it as do our neighbors aforesaid. Union county is now ready to meet us at the line, will Centre advance and elasp her with the iron band? Shame on us if we do not, for we have as much wealth as Union county and stand in greater need, and consequently will derive greater benefits than the people of Union. People of Pennsylvally, the decision of the matter, as to whether we shall have the railroad, now rests altogether with you. Will you do your duty?

We give here a letter from Mr. Miller to Mr. Wolf, the tenor of which is similar to several letters to us from the same gentleman, and which may be opposite the occasion.

Lewisburg, April 25, 1870.
Mr. Wm. Wolf Esq.—Dear Sir:—Your report of the 18th inst. has been received. I had hoped that your township would have come up to $50,000. That amount certainly ought to be subscribed in a township possessing so much wealth, especially as the subscriptions are not a donation, but the taking of stock on which I have no doubt a handsome dividend will be paid. Need not reiterate the importance of a railroad to your township, and others of Centre county, through the valley. I would recommend another strong effort to raise it to about $50,000, and the construction of the road would be commenced soon, and I have no doubt the other townships will go to work with renewed vigor.
You need not fear that the proceeds of stock subscribed in your county will be used to grade the road in Union or any other county, but confined to Centre alone. I suggested to Mr. Duncanson the prospects of our Centre county improvement, doubling their subscriptions. I should like to see the work of constructing the road through your valley commenced soon. Yours etc.
G. F. MILLER.

The New Voting Banties.
The democratic press all along protested against the mantrousity of making voters out of the negro population, showing their unfitness and inferiority as a race. However, for the sake of keeping up the sinking fortunes of radicalism, the 15th Amendment has been imposed upon the people by force and fraud, and now the African has a vote. To show that the Democracy were correct in their estimate of the negro element as voters, we now bring in as evidence a short article from a negro organ at Bellefonte, the Standard, of last week, upon the attempted re-election of Whittemore, the radical scallawag and carpet bagger, who was kicked out of Congress for speculating in cadetships. The readers of the REPORTER will remember that we stated some time ago, that Whittemore expected to be re-elected, relying upon the ignorance of the negro voters in his district, down in South Carolina, who cannot read and consequently would remain in ignorance as to his designs. Now see how nicely the National comes in to prove what we asserted. It says:

"Whittemore, the defeated South Carolina cadeter, must have been born under a happy star, after all. Expelled from his seat in the House for stealing, he seems likely to be returned to it by a vile conspiracy of negroes and Democrats. Apparently by previous arrangement, the negroes hurr'd him and the Democrats throw mud balls at him—and so both alike, help him along. Whittemore calls frantically upon God to vouch for his good intentions, and explains to the poor darkeys that he educated incipient generals, immature majors, and callow colonels that he might the more efficiently spread the cause of Zion in the benighted sea islands, of South Carolina. So the ignorant of the colored men are pulling him toward Congress, and the idiotic Democrats are kicking him in the same direction, and present indications are that he will succeed in climbing into his old seat."

THE MFARLAND TRIAL.

The testimony of Horace Greely and others, in the M'Farland case, the other day, revealed the existence of a conspiracy on the part of certain enemies of the prisoner at the bar, to procure a conviction. Mr. Greely testified that he had spoken to Judge Pierpoint with a view of employing him to assist the District Attorney, and that Dr. Ayer, a stockholder in the Tribune concern, had contributed money to aid in carrying on the prosecution. Mr. Sinclair, the publisher of the Tribune, swore that he was ready to bear a part of the expenses, and it appeared on cross-examination of some of the witnesses for the prosecution, that they were sought out, subpoenaed and brought into court at the instance of persons who were instrumental in bringing about the separation of Mrs. M'Farland from her husband. Hon. Noah Davis, a member of Congress from the State of New York, has been retained as counsel for the prosecution. For the blood money to be earned by the conviction and hanging of the miserable M'Farland, this Congressman deliberately betrays the trust reposed in him by his constituents, neglecting for weeks together the duties they selected him to perform. It is likely, however, that neither they, nor the country, are greatly the losers by Davis' absence from Congress, and if his participation in the prosecution of M'Farland had not been brought about by the malignity of the conspirators who seek the life of that unfortunate man, it is not at all certain that the unrepresented people of the Twenty Eight Congressional District of New York, or anybody else, would care a fig whether Mr. Noah Davis spent his days in Washington or elsewhere. But this M'Farland case involves a number of editors, publishers, politicians and preachers in and out of New York. Even Vice President Colfax is included in the list of mischief-makers who aided and abetted the hideous fraud by which M'Farland's wife was torn from him through the instrumentality of the Indiana divorce. To shield these people from popular censure M'Farland must be hanged, and to bring him to the gallows money is lavishly subscribed, counsel to assist the prosecution is employed, and, as one of the attorneys for the defence very forcibly expressed it, the streets and gutters of New York are raked for evidence against the accused. Meanwhile the adulteress whose infidelity caused the death of one man and now threatens to place the hangman's rope around the neck of another, goes unpunished and fares sumptuously on the money derived from the sale of the goods and chattles of her dead paramour.—Patriot.

A letter has been received at the Treasury Department from the collector of customs in San Francisco, giving an account of the methods adopted by Chinamen to smuggle opium into this country. Every crack and crevice of the vessel, as well as every part of their clothing not likely to be examined, becomes a receptacle for this narcotic. It is twisted into the form of roots, and it is also packed in lead cases or in balls with lead weights attached, and when the vessels anchor in the harbor it is dropped overboard until the vessel is ready to get under way, when it is fished up again. On the arrival of the last steamship from Hong Kong the revenue officers went fishing themselves, and caught a case containing seven hundred pounds and a half of two hundred pounds of opium in one day.

Paris, April 30.—Reports are rife in this city of a plot discovered by the police against the State and the life of the Emperor. It is alleged that, yesterday a deserter from the army, a non-commissioned officer, was arrested in a hotel in the Rue Montemarte, where he had in his possession a letter from Gustave Flourens, and a note containing instructions for his part in the execution of the conspiracy. The Flourens says that a part of the design of the plotters was to blow up the Tuilleries and the Prefecture of Police.

An elephant is in trouble in New Haven. It has come on its feet, and these are so painful that it cannot walk. A corn doctor is about to put the monstrous beast under the influence of chloroform, and cut the corns out.

The latest scandal in New York is of a married lady who fell in love with her daughter's fiancé. The daughter suspecting it, dismissed her lover, who went to Europe, the mother following him in the next steamer, with her maid.

How Tigers Dine.

The report of officers engaged in the revenue and topographical survey in India go to prove that an extraordinary number of deaths occur in that country through wild beasts. The report says of the season 1867-8: No small obstruction was occasioned to the progress of the operations by the depredations of the tigers which infest the district. A tiger reported to have killed one hundred and twenty seven people, stopped the traffic for many weeks on the road between Mool and Chandah, till it was shot by a lieutenant. In Chindwarr one tiger caused the desertion of thirteen villages and threw two hundred and fifty square miles out of cultivation. Another old tiger in Kurnool killed sixty-four people, stopping the post-runners and police patrols, and driving off the laborers on the public works.

The statistical tables which accompany the papers show that the matter is one of very high importance indeed. In the Bhaugulpore district, alone—Bhaugulpore is a large civil railway station on the Ganges, within a night's run from Calcutta—in six years 1,434 people were killed by wild beasts; while in the whole province under the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal no fewer than 13,400 cases of death were officially reported during the same period, about 7,000 being caused by tigers and leopards, and over 4,000 by wolves. When to this is added the many hundreds killed yearly in Oude, the Punjab, the Central Provinces, Madry and elsewhere, a sufficiently ghastly idea is obtained of the fearful scourge.

The published papers take no count of ravages of wild beasts in the native States, but if in the comparatively green wood of Bengal proper, with the system of head and hide money for wolves and tigers, the results be as represented officially, what must they be in the dry wood of Rajpootana and the Deccan, where countenance is given to preservation rather than extirpation?

PENNSYLVANIA STATE SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.—The annual convention for the year 1870, will be held at Harrisburg, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, June 14, 15, and 16. George H. Stuart, Esq., is expected to preside. Each Sunday School in the State is invited to send two or more delegates. Pastors of Churches, Superintendents of Sunday Schools, and prominent Sunday School workers from all parts of the State are invited to attend and participate.

Our Sunday School brethren from other States are also cordially welcomed. It is requested that the names of those who expect to attend shall be sent to Rev. Thos. H. Robinson, or John M. Sayford, Secretary, on or before the first day of June, as it will be necessary for those who would avail themselves of a reduction of fare on the railroads, to procure excursion tickets before leaving their homes for Harrisburg. The committee of arrangements will secure orders for all who notify them in time to do so and forward them.

Places of entertainment will be provided for all who give due notice of their coming.

T. H. ROBINSON, Chairman.
J. M. SAYFORD, Secretary.

Corn is selling in Central Iowa at thirty cents per bushel delivered on the railroad. Wheat is very plenty and worth only fifty cents. The general complaint there is—too much produce and too little money.

A re-enlisted soldier, named De Laron, and his wife committed suicide at Atlanta, Georgia, on Saturday, the 16th instant. They each took an ounce of arsenic and retired to the woods to die together, but under the pangs of the poison, they returned to the barracks and died.

For the Reporter.

I heard.
Well, if you did, does it make you or any other person any better to reiterate what you heard, especially if the story is not so very favorable? But such news, those I heard and learned, people delight to circulate. If you only heard so, don't bother your poor brains in making it known, for after all, it may be the idle talk of some one who is envious, malicious or thoughtless. We are constantly surrounded by those whose dark souls are seeking light, whose minds are full of bitter unlighted longings, to whom a kind word or an encouraging look, would be as pure water to thirsty lips; and yet we pass them by, unmindful of the fact that if we have the right spirit in our own hearts, we will seek to fill those hungry, shivering, weary souls with light and warmth—not tell the first one we meet after passing them, so I heard, when in reality they may be better than you are.

It is far beneath a noble, generous mind to breathe out or give credit to every tale that may be told.
Man, inconsiderate of his own frailty and imperfection, no sooner perceives the last deficiency in his neighbor's character, than he seeks to impair it still more. How strange it is, that beings created in God's own image, beings to whom we assign the highest, purest, noblest attributes of which the human mind can think, should be so forgetful of their origin as to take pleasure in defining their fellow creature, or endeavor to abate themselves, by lowering their brethren.

Will it reform the erring to expose their failings to those who are always ready to add to the most insignificant word until it becomes a slanderous report? No, never. If we would only be more diligent in searching out the good, if we would constantly seek to elevate others by our own pure example, by a kind word, by a tender sympathy in all the bitter events of every day life, as well as in the wants and aspirations of the soul, we would certainly find less time to narrate the ills we hear, and fewer occasions to report what we heard. Let us all endeavor to cast out the beams out of our eyes, then if we have any time left to cast out the moles from our brother's eyes, we will see more clearly how to do so.

A bill has passed the lower house of Congress granting Mrs. Lincoln, the widow of the late President, a pension of $3,000 per annum. It is thought it will also pass the Senate.

RICHMOND.

The Late Accident—Funerals of the Victims—Relief for the Sufferers—The Mayor's Case, &c., &c.

RICHMOND, April 29.—There were five funerals this morning, including that of Dr. Brock of the Examiner, which was attended by numbers of persons.
Both Houses of the Legislature met in the Circuit Court building to-day and adopted a resolution to meet at the exchange Hotel temporarily. The registration bill was finally passed.
The business houses are still closed. The Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia, this morning, decided the enabling act passed by the Legislature was constitutional, and that Henry R. Ellison, not George Cohoon, is lawful Mayor of this city, and that all acts of Ellison in accordance with State law, are legal and binding. Cahoon, under his formal agreement, will retire from the field. Ellison remains Mayor of the city. The Court was unanimous in its opinion, which is voluminous, and covers every point raised.

LATEST.
Richmond, April 29.—Twelve funerals of the victims of the disaster took place to-day, including that of J. M. Schofield, city assessor and brother of Major General Schofield, which was attended by nearly two thousand people; and those of Julius Hobson, collector of city taxes, and Wm. A. Charriers, chief of the fire department. The latter was attended by an immense crowd. The body was conveyed on an engine, followed by all the other engines of the city decorated with evergreens.

Governor Walker has written a letter to general Canby thanking him for his kindness in furnishing surgeons and other kindnesses to those wounded by the late disaster.
A telegram was received by the Secretary of State to-day from Mayor Fox of Philadelphia, stating that subscriptions were being made for the sufferers.

A merchant of Chicago has also advised the Relief Committee to draw on him for necessary funds.
No further deaths to-day.

The Governor has issued a proclamation designating the 4th of May a day of humiliation and prayer throughout the State.
Late this afternoon all the city property in the possession of Mayor Calhoun was surrendered to Mayor Ellison.

The Fifteenth Amendment.

The bill to enforce the Fifteenth Amendment, reported in Congress, the other day, provides as follows:
All citizens of the United States, who are qualified by law to vote in any election by the people, shall be entitled to vote at all elections without distinction of race, color, or previous condition of servitude, any law of any State, to the contrary notwithstanding. Also, that if the laws of any State or Territory shall require any act to be done as a prerequisite to voting, it shall be the duty of the officers of the law to give equal opportunity to all citizen of the United States to perform such prerequisite; and any such official failing so to do shall forfeit $500 to the person aggrieved, to be recovered at law, and in case of conviction shall also be fined not less than $500 and imprisoned on one month to one year. The same penalties are prescribed against any person who shall hinder any citizen from performing such prerequisite. Person deprived of any office except that of a member of Congress or State legislator by reason of violation of the foregoing provisions may receive possession through United States Courts which are given concurrent jurisdiction in all such cases. The United States District Courts shall have exclusive jurisdiction of the State Court cognizances crimes and offences against the provisions of this act. All the officers of the United States Courts are required, under a penalty of $1,000, to institute and enforce proceedings thereunder, and the President is authorized to employ the land and naval forces of the militia to enforce its execution.

Washington, May 1.—A movement which it is thought has been gathering strength for a week past finally developed itself, in the House yesterday in a motion made by Mr. Judd, of Illinois, to kill the pending tariff bill in order, as he stated, that the House might get to work on the vast amount of business before it. A furious debate arose between Schenck, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee on the one hand, and Messrs. Logan, Judd and others, who were denominated a party of revenue reformers, on the other. In the course of the debate it came out that Mr. Judd wanted to substitute his own bill for a reduction of the tariff and internal taxation together, and this fact weakened, very materially the opposition to the bill now before the House. Had the naked question been to direct the committee of the whole they would have carried, but the intention being to supplant a new measure not only for the tariff, but a new internal tax bill, the House voted by more than three to one to continue the work on the old bill. The manner in which the tariff bill has been contested in by Mr. Schenck, in course of a debate, to say that it might be killed yet, but if so its epitaph should be written that "it was nibbled to death by pismires." There was a great deal of ill feeling exhibited in the debate. The Democrats generally voted to continue to consider the old bill on the grounds that it reduced the tariff $20,000,000 when it was reported, and that now, as amended, it reduced the duties still more.
