At a meeting of the board of directors, of the Fire Ins. Co., held at Centre Hall, on last Friday, a resolution was passed, raising the rates of risk on all barns, and contents of barns, which are not protected by a lightning rod, from 6 to 10 per cent. The justness a matter of such importance should receive the prompt attention of all owners of buildings, in view of greater risks where a barn is not thus protected, and the losses already sustained by the company, as well as individuals, from this neglect.

The attention of the Pennsvalley trade is called to the large, and neatly kept store, of the new firm of Foster, Devling & Co., just below the Conrad House, Bellefonte. They constantly keep on hand a full line of goods, which in quality compares with any other brought from the eastern market. Being a new firm, yet their system of fair dealing, agreeable manner, and neat and handsome store, have already won for these worthy gentlemen a large run of custom. Having gone into business with the intention of establishing themselves permanently, they have resolved to pursue the same course, and continue to keep nothing but a good article, at the lowest possible figures, and make every customer feel satisfied that he has received the worth of his money. We can safely recommend this firm to our readers, and ask them to give them a trial
