Suppose, my little lady, Your doll should break her head! Could you make it whole by crying Till your eyes and nose are red? And would't it he pleasanter To treat it as a joke; And say you're glad 'twas Dolly's, And not your head that broke?

Suppose you're dressed for walking, And the rain comes pouring down, Will it clear off any sooner Because you scold and frown? And wouldn't it be nicer For you to smile than pout. And so make sunshine in the house When there is none without?

Suppose your task, my little man, Is very hard to get, Will it make it any easier For you to sit and fret? And wouldn't it be wiser, Than waiting like a dunce, To go to work in earnest And learn the thing at once?

Suppose that some boys have a horse And some a coach and pair, Will it tire you less while walking, To say "it isn't fair?"
And wouldn't it be nobler To keep your temper sweet, And in your heart be thankful You can walk upon your feet?

Suppose the world don't please you, Nor the way some people do, Do you think the whole creation Will be altered, just for you? And isn't it, my boy or girl,
The wisest, bravest plain,
Whatever comes, or doesn't come, To do the best you can?

Dana and General Grant. The New York Sun, a Repulican journal, publishes the following in relation to General Grant, who pronounced incompetent, lazy, neglectful of his duties, unable to comprehend them, and careless in performing them;" his administration bad, foolish, weak, cowardly, corrupt, anti American, contemtible at home, and more contemptible abroad." This is said by one who has a right to know all about the situation. Read and ponder:

"As for General Grant personally, we have neither spite, grudge, nor revenge. He never refused us any personal favor, for we never asked anything of him, save only the appoin ment of Horace Greeley as Minister to England; and as he sent a man there who isn't half as fit for the place as Mr. Greeley, we have never borne him any grudge on that account. But toward Gen. Grant as President we confess that we cherish a very profound feeling of gal-tender decision. All debts contracted we cherish a very profound feeling of disappointment and dissatisfaction. There were few men in the country who had taken more stock in him than we had, During who have in these contracted before February, 1862, are payable in coin, and will be so paid by companies and by individuals. The officers of the companies who have in these contracted before February, 1862, are payable in coin, and will be so paid by companies and by individuals. Vicksburg, and was on the point of being gracefully acknowledged the obligation relieved from his command, Mr. Dana did what he could to have him retained at the head of the army in the Mississippi Valley; and the effort was successful. But for his agency Grant would the have been sent back to Galena; and in that event he could neither have become Commander in-Chief of the army nor President of the United

Next, When he was a candidate for the Presidency, we did what we could to secure for him the nomination of the Republican National Convention, and then we helped to get him the votes of a majority of the American people. All this we did simply because we thought it best for the country; and all we demanded of General Grant was an honest, sensible, disinterested, and patriotic administration of his office. Does anybody think that wastoo much to expect

But instead of this his administration is bad, foolish, week, cowardly, corrupt, anti-American, contemptible at home, and more cotemptible abroad. It is impossible to speak the truth and deny that this is so. It is impossible for an independent journalist, anxious to discharge his obligations to the people, to conceal or palliate facts so fearful and so notorious.

The President is incompetent, lazy neglectful of his duties, unable to comprehend them, and careless about performing them. He appoints men to office simply because they have made him presents, or are his peace establishment, 888,700 of a war relations, or because some foolish caprice prompts it. He degrades the country in Could the South German Confederation or the eyes of all the world, and stands trembling like a coward for fear of a corrupt and bankrupt power like Spain. The man who saved the nation as a soldier is covering us with shame as a President.

Thus she would to obtain possession of certain papers found have, instantly, 69 000 men more, and thrown ashore in a bottle is pronounced a fiction. Her trip to Alaska and the far North is said to have been undertaken for the purpose of approaching, as near as the purpose of approaching, as near as possible, to the country in which Sir John France, to move at once, or quite enough being opened every day aplues Franklin died. This, if true, makes the to cope with her and Austria together, for visit more touching and heroic. There is nothing equal to this in ancient or modern a common language and position. This fiction. The story of Penelope spinning and watching for the return of Ulysses, is tame compared to it.

Lady Franklin for years moved Heaven and the world with her prayers and efforts for the recovery of her lost husband. When it was demonstrated beyond doubt that he had perished, she mourned in silence for fifteen years, and then, at the age of eighty, went on a journey of ten thousand miles for the sole purpose of coming near the country in which he died. The life of Lady Franklin, with this conclusion of heroic devotion, will be finer than a ro

DELEGATE ELECTION. The Democratic voters of Centre county will meet at the regular places of holding borough and township elections on Saturday, the 6th day of August next, between the heurs of two and four o'clock p. m., to elect delegates to appear at a convention to be held at the Court House, at Bellefonte, on Tuesday, the 9th day of August, 1870.

same as last year. eing the fact that the Supreme Court is at an end. All the railroad companies whose offices are in this city yesterday paid the half year's interest, then maturing, on all of their debts created before the passage of the legal-tender act, in coin, or its equivalent. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company led off courageously, displaying the coin, we are informed, in large abundance, and paying out not only the inserest on its first mortgage loan as $4, 972,000, without rebate of the five per cent. Governmen tax, but gave notice also that the amount of memoranda previously given for Pennsylvania second mortgage and Philadelphia & Erie Railroad coupons, maturing on the 1st of April last, will be paid in coin on the 25th inst. The amount of the Pennsylvania railroad company's second 6's is $1,887,840, and of the Philade'phia and Erie first moatgage 6's is $1,000,000. The interest payment on per cent., amounts to about $325,000, the premium on which will cost some 40,000 at the present rate of premium. Following this lead of the Pennsylvania railroad company came the Philadelphia and Reading railroad campany, which paid interest in ment or evasion. Two or three of the smaller companies owing on bonds made before the passage of the legal-tender act manufactured in large towns and cities, tendered currency in payment of interest due, but at the same time announced the intention of the company to follow, without delay, the action of the larger companies, which was not generally known unpanies, which was not generally known until too late to make the necessary arrangements for coin vesterday.

The Reading Company, and, we believe the North Pennsyluania, also paid the full interest without deducting the five per cent, Government tax. We are not of opioior that we shall ever hear anything more of the threatened attempt to procure a reversal of the widely and warmly discussed lewho have in these costly coin payments. and binding force of law, are justly entitled to credit in proportions as the amounts paid were large and the pecuniary inducements to hold out correspondingly tempt-

While the action of these officers may be commended for this evidence of integrity and returning loyalty, we believe in this, as in all like cases, that honesty will be found the best policy, and that more will be realized in the shape of improved company credit than the gold cost of establishing a reputation for fair dealing. Now, what have the managers of the finances o the city to say fortheir dereliction by refusing or neglecting to pay the city interest in coin? A big borrower as it steadily is, can it be considered honest or wise to stand in discredit, paying in depreciated paper when it owes in gold, as it now does? The whole moral sense of the community is this matter, and now that the State, com panies and individuals are acknowledging their just obligations, we hardly see on what pretext the city can longer resist.

In view of the dispatches from Europe, it is interesting to know what military force and will always keep on hand the nations concerned can put in the field. France has 414,632 soldiers on the peace are now ready to march of the tap of the drum. Austria has 278,470 men on the strength, or 300,000 fully prepared to move. group of States be secured on the same side, they have 66,540 men on the peace list, or 184'400 on the war footing, with 107,000 of these prepared for instant service. Such coalition would give France the control of Gentleman and Ladies furnishing 777,000 fightin; men at once, with a reserve Goods, Oils, Fish Salt, Stationary, and of 1,596,103 trained soldiers.

On the other hand, Prussia bas 726,000 men on the peace or 1,266,000 on the war The highest market price paid in Store footing, 300,000 now ready for operation woven into ancient or modern fiction. She on her western frontier. North Germany, but recently reached California, where she going with Prussia, has 315,526 on the peace, 551,993 on the field, or 944,321 on the war footing, of which 246,000 are instantly available. This would place at Prussian hereafter 231,785 less than the French alliance Should she be able to manage Southern Germany for her cause she would have 1,053,000 men, or 176,000 more than the time being, with, all the advantages of would leave Prussia still a reserve of 4,-441,827 men or only 151,879 less than that of France and Austria coalesced, a difference swamped to extent of nearly 90,000 men by her superiority of immediate Italy, out of a force of 376,721 on a wa footing, with 196,000 of a reserve, or 573,-721 in all, could spare possibly 200,000 men to operate on the French frontier or hold a hostile corps in check. The direct and open participation of Russia is hardly to be expected unless circumstances should force her in a melee. In that case she could dispose of about 250,000 men from 700,000 composing her army in Europe, including the Cossacks She could take no other course by family alliance, position, and the recollection of Crimean wounds than to aid Prussia.
