

The Girl of the Period. She sits in a fashionable parlor, And rocks in her easy chair; She is clad in silks and satins, And jewels are in her hair; She winks, and giggles, and simpers, And smiles, and giggles, and winks. And though she talks but little, 'Tis a good deal more than she thinks.

Her feet are so very little, Her hands are so very white, Her jewels so very heavy, And her head so very light. Her color is made of cosmetics, (Though this she will never own,) Her beauty is made mostly of cotton, Her heart is made wholly of stone.

Some Good Advice to Parents. A little tract issued for distribution by the Ladies' Sanitary Association of London, gives these wise suggestions for the nurture of children in health of body and spirits:

- 1. Never refuse a thing if it is harmless, but give it if you are able without delay. 2. Never give anything because it is cried for, that you have refused when asked for. 3. Be careful to observe real illness, and avoid causing bodily uneasiness from over-clothing, or cold, or unwholesome food—such as candy, plums, sour fruit, or giving buns or cakes to quiet the child. 4. Avoid false promises. They are sure to be found out. 5. Avoid threats of all kinds. If believed, they make children timid, and injure both mind and body. If not believed, they are useless. Such threats as bogie, policeman, and black man are sure to be found out to be false if the child lives. 6. Never say anything untrue to a child. 7. Do not wear your own bad temper, or visit your own feelings of fatigue and trouble on children, by being severe with them, or by saying "You shan't have it," or "I won't give it to you," when there is no reason for refusal, except that you are yourself tired, or in trouble, or out of sorts. 8. Avoid giving orders, such as "Stand still," "Go on," "Hold your tongue," "Put it down," etc., unless you really mean that they should be obeyed, and the fewer orders you give the better. 9. Neither give too much pity, nor yet be severe and unkind, when a child tumbles down or hurts itself. 10. Do not worry a child. Let it alone and let it live in peace. 11. Teach it early to play alone and amuse itself.

A Chinese Funeral. (From the Portland (Oregon) Herald.) The funeral of the late Dr. Ore, who put an end to his existence with opium, was one of yesterday's principal features. The deceased was confined in his every day garb, with the addition of a pair of stockings pulled over his shoes. The space within the coffin was filled up with every conceivable delicacy, not even omitting the pipe and cigarette with which, in life, he had regaled himself. After some heathenish ceremonies in the house, the cavalcade, headed by the most hideous of bands, proceeded to A. der street, where a couple of altars had been erected for the occasion. On these altars an abundance of hog and fowl was placed, together with various tit-bits which delight the palate of the Chinese epicure. Immediately following the hearse came two priests dressed in flowing robes of drab, with blue cloth tied around their "beignons"—their tails being wound up in coil to form that fashionable appendage. Behind them came six priests of the lesser order, dressed in robes of a darker color, with white wrappers around their heads; and a list of all came eight men, clothed entirely in white. Reaching the rendezvous in Alder street, a series of incantations of the most heathenish character were commenced. Every article as food upon their altars came in for a particular blessing, till at last the affair ended amid the flourish of trumpets and drums. The procession organized as before, with the addition of a number of Chinamen wearing badges of blue ribbons at their breasts.

The Way the Money Goes.—An item in the miscellaneous appropriation bill, which became a law in the closing hours of last session, reads: "To Wm. Syphax, as additional pay as assistant messenger, $2,150."

Now Mr. Wm. Syphax is a colored individual who preforms the onerous duty of carrying visitors' cards into the Secretary of the Interior from 11 o'clock a. m. till noon (the Secretary receives only an hour per day), and if $2,150 is his additional yearly pay, what can his regular salary be?

In view of the rapid disappearance of the public domain through the give away policy of congressional legislation, the following statistics furnished from the general land office, will be found interesting. The figures extend up to last November, and do not embrace operations since that time:

Table with 2 columns: Description and Acres. Includes: Taken up free of cost under the homestead laws (12,201,990), Given to soldiers services previous to the rebellion (61,076,922), Given to schools asylums, etc. (70,282,787), Swamp lands given to states (47,876,245), Granted for internal improvement (12,503,064), Saline lands given to states (514,585), Given to individuals and companies (11,195,567), Given to canals (1,450,000), Given to wagon roads (3,783,214), Given to railroads (182,400,281).

Total 401,800,984. If we add to this what has been donated by Congress since last November, it will swell the grand aggregate to at least 450,000,000 acres, from the people forever. This leaves, at a rough estimate, 975,000,000 acres exclusive of Alaska, yet in our possession; fully one-third and probably one-half of which is valueless. The territory we have given to railroads alone is more than the entire area of England, Scotland, Ireland, Wales and France united; and besides this we have loaned these roads government credit to the amount of $65,000,000. Thus much has been done since 1853. If we go on at the same rate for twenty years more, what will there be left?

The New York Sun, a Republican journal, publishes the following in relation to General Grant, who pronounced incompetent, lazy, neglectful of his duties, unable to comprehend them, and careless in performing them: "bad, foolish, corrupt, anti American, contemptible at home, and more contemptible abroad." This is said by one who has a right to know all about the situation. Read and ponder.

As for General Grant personally, we have neither spite, nor grudge, nor revenge. He never refused us any personal favor, for we never asked anything of him, save only the appointment of Horace Greeley as Minister to England; and as he sent a man there who isn't half as fit for the place as Mr. Greeley, we have never borne him any grudge on that account. But toward Gen. Grant as President we confess that we cherish a very profound feeling of disappointment and dissatisfaction. There were few men in the country who had taken more stock in him than we had. During the war, when he was digging canals at Vicksburg, and was on the point of being relieved from his command, Mr. Dana did what he could to have him retained at the head of the army in the Mississippi Valley; and the effort was successful. But for his agency Grant would have been sent back to Galena; and in that event he could neither have become Commander-in-Chief of the army nor President of the United States.

Next, when he was a candidate for the Presidency, we did what we could to secure for him the nomination of the Republican National Convention, and then we helped to get him the votes of a majority of the American people. All this we did simply because we thought it best for the country; and all we demanded of General Grant was an honest, sensible, disinterested, and patriotic administration of his office. Does anybody think that wastoo much to expect of him?

But instead of this administration is bad, foolish, weak, cowardly, corrupt, anti-American, contemptible at home, and more contemptible abroad. It is impossible to speak the truth and deny that this is so. It is impossible for an independent journalist, anxious to discharge his obligations to the people, to conceal or palliate facts so fearful and so notorious.

The President is incompetent, lazy, neglectful of his duties, unable to comprehend them, and careless about performing them. He appoints men to office simply because they have made him presents, or are his relations, or because some foolish caprice prompts it. He degrades the country in the eyes of all the world, and stands trembling like a coward for fear of a corrupt and bankrupt power like Spain. The man who saved the nation as a soldier is covering us with shame as a President.

Smithsonian Institution, Washington, May 4, 1870. Dear Sir, Herewith we beg leave to send you in reply to your letter of the 29th of April, a series of instructions for the erection of lightning rods. I am very truly yours, JOSEPH HENRY, Secretary Smithsonian Institution, Nahum Capen, Esq., Boston.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR THE ERECTION OF LIGHTNING RODS. 1. The rod should consist of round iron of about one inch in diameter; its parts, throughout the whole length, should be in perfect metallic contact, by being secured by coupling ferrules. 2. To secure it from rust the rod should be coated with black paint, itself a good conductor. 3. It should terminate in a single platinum point. 4. The shorter and more direct the course of the rod to the earth the better; bendings should be rounded, and not formed in acute angles. 5. It should be fastened to the building by iron eyes, and it may be insulated from the gas-pipes, or better, the water-pipes of this city. This connection may be made by a ribbon of copper or iron soldered to the end of the rod of one of its extremities, and wrapped around the pipe at the other. If a connection of this kind is impracticable, the rod should be continued horizontally to the nearest wall, and then turned vertically downward until the end enters the water as deep as its lowest level. The horizontal part of the rod may be buried in a stratum of pounded charcoal and ashes. The rod should be placed, in preference, on the west side of the building. A rod of this kind may be put by an ordinary blacksmith. The rod in question is in accordance with our latest knowledge of all the facts of electricity. Attempted improvements are proposed by those who are but slightly acquainted with the subject.

The "Little Giant" IS THE BEST For pointing rails, sawing firewood, and all kinds of sawing, such as LATH, PALING, SHINGLES, &c., while for boring and mortising all kinds of timber, including Fence Posts, it is to-day without an equal. The time has come when almost every Farmer wants a machine for all kinds of sawing, mortising, &c. To all I would say, don't buy before seeing the LITTLE GIANT. It has advantages possessed by no similar Machine, among which are the following: It is very small, light, and strong, without an unnecessary gearing, is furnished with a Fly-wheel for sawing and also one for boring, making the motion regular enough for railway or any other power, without worrying the horses. It has a larger capacity than any similar machine, being capable of sawing 3 to 4 cords of wood, twice through, per hour, and boring 75 to 100 fence posts in the same time. It takes only two men to run it in posts. It points all kinds of rails ready to put in the fence and mortises posts ready to set up, at the rate of 50 to 60 per hour. No matter how crooked the posts are, it will mortise them with equal facility. Its superiority is established. It is impossible to get out of order and there is no wearing out to it. Fixtures for sawing shingles are always put on when desired. Capacity, 5000 to 8000 per day. THE LITTLE GIANT was Patented April 20, '64, and sold in every County where it has been tried. For township rights or machines apply to GEORGE REESER, Aaronsburg, july6m

MUNSON'S TUBULAR COPPER LIGHTNING ROD. The undersigned now prepared to put up this superior rod, being one of the oldest and most thoroughly tried. Being of copper its conducting power is superior to any other metal except silver. Its spiral shape gives it the greatest strength and stability. This rod has a surface 21 times greater than the common iron rod, and being eight times greater conducting metal, renders this rod equal to twenty iron rods. Munson's Lightning Rod has received the first premiums at the State Fairs of New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Connecticut, and at National Fairs, Maryland Institute, American Institute of New York, Mechanics' Institute of Cincinnati, and at very many County and District Fairs. It has been endorsed by over five hundred Professors in Colleges, and other scientific men, as the best rod ever invented, and possessing all the elements necessary to protect buildings from lightning. Patent.—Only 30 cents per foot, and $3 for each top, this includes cost of putting up. Delay in having your buildings rodded, is dangerous send in your order at once to J. H. HAFFNER, CENTRE HALL my27,tf
