

Farm, Garden and Household.

WARM-PROOF BOOTS.—If hot feet are to be avoided, the boots should be made of leather which will bear winter injury, applied with a swab, and drying in the fire. The operation may be repeated two or three times during the winter, if necessary.

RESISTANCE REMEDY.—About three years ago I found one of my horses (seven or eight years old) suffering from one, and after trying everything I could hear of and read, I found, about twelve months afterwards, a remedy which I had successfully taken.

TO DESTROY CRACK GRASS.—Beck writes to the Farmer: "I have been successful in destroying grass by cultivating thoroughly with a hoe or spade, then plow well in the fall, and as soon as the ground becomes dry in the spring put on good cultivator, work up the roots and expose them to the frost in August and the sun by day; then put on narrow row of the balls of which I speak forward; when the drug gets full raise it up and drop the roots in rows so as to gather them up and put into the compost heap, and repeat the same work on the land every other day for six to ten days the roots will be mostly extracted and the land brought under good cultivation."

HOW TO WARM COLD FEET.—An excellent mode of warming cold feet by exercise, which is the true way of warming them, is by means of an ordinary rubber dumb-bell, the balls of which are from four to six inches in diameter, or a cylinder of heavy wood some six inches in diameter and a foot and a half long, may be used.

REMEDY FOR CONTRACTED FOOT.—When a horse's foot is contracted, the shoe should be beveled from the heel about half way to the toe, so that when he sets his foot down the hoof will spread. The shoe should be made with a row of iron spikes, or taking hold of another person's hand or other support. A little practice will enable him to balance himself more easily, and he will be able to walk on a hard road with ease.

WINDBREAKERS.—Many of our most profitable farms are situated in the line of hedges and belts of trees to serve as windbreakers. The indiscriminate destruction of our trees has been an incalculable injury. Trees are a protection against droughts and against severe winds. By protection against the effects of wind, the yield of crops is increased, and the homes made more pleasant. The wind of our own pear crops is one of the most obvious examples of the loss we sustain by the destruction of trees.

DOMESTIC RECEIPTS.—Soda Cake in Sheets.—Half cup of butter, two cups sugar, four cups flour, three eggs, one teaspoonful of soda, one cup of milk, two teaspoonful cream tartar, mixed in the flour.

THE FARMER'S OWN Pudding.—Three pounds sifted corn-meal, three quarters of a pound finely minced beef suet, one pound dried currants, one cup of (rubbed lard), one-half teaspoonful of soda (super-carbonate); incorporate the whole with dry; add one and one-half pint of milk, and one-half pint of water, stirring hard all the time, until the mixture is the consistency of cream; place mass in a wide-mouthed bag, leaving it full of space; sew well; boil in water for one hour; serve with butter and sugar.

Varieties in Fashions.

Turn-out, out of vogue for some time past, is promised among the things to be restored in the coming spring of fashion. Its best colors are shades of mouse-color, or light unarranged.

Buttons used sparingly for a long time, and only used, promise to be a part in the ornamentation of spring costumes.

Some showy dinner-toilettes, mostly in bright colors, have been seen recently with broad bands of velvet or ermine.

Handkerchiefs, with ruffles of three inches in width, are in favor again, and fluted, and pretty.

A decline in the price of light shades of gloves is noticeable. Dark gloves, even with a narrow velvet or ermine band, are in vogue.
