LOCAL NEWS.—Our friends will be glad to hear that the local news is full of interesting items, including deaths, marriages, etc., as such are eagerly read by our friends. We would esteem it favor if our kind patrons would occasionally send us a copy of the Reporter to relatives and acquaintances who formerly lived in Centre county and removed to other parts of the State.

BLANKS—Blank Summons, Vendors Notes, Executions, and Judgment and Execution Notes containing notices, Warrants, etc., for sale at this office.

IMPORTANT TO BUSINESS MEN.—The circulation of the Reporter, on this side of the county, is now greater than that of any two papers in the county, hence business men who wish to reach the Pennsylvania trade, and advance their own interests, should place their advertisements in the Reporter. An subscription list is open to the inspection of all who wish to advertise.

Mr. Smith is a man of intelligence, sound judgment, honesty and integrity. He is well liked by all who have had the gratifying satisfaction of becoming acquainted with him. We entertain no doubt that he would be strong on the ticket and would represent Centre county in a noble and gallant manner.

Associate Judge.
For the Reporter.
We notice several prominent men as candidates for the position of Associate Judge, and among them the name of Col. Love. A man of ability, a man of good judgment, talented and possessing a tolerable good knowledge of the German language, and never having had a position as county officer, we think it but justice to give him the nomination, subject, however, to the consideration of other voters.

Letter from Kansas.
It is a curious and interesting. It is a curious question whether animals take notice of the events which are passing around them, but which, nevertheless, are apparently outside of the sphere of their instinct. Mr. Thophile Gautier, the well known French journalist and writer, has raised this question in regard to animals which were in Paris during the siege, and he brings forward several facts which he says fall under his own observation, to prove that they not only took notice of passing events, but regulated their movements accordingly. He observes that the dogs took notice, from the very first day, of the abnormal condition of Paris. The usual movements of the inhabitants, the musical, the exercising of the mables and the national guards on the public parades, the continual sounding of the trumpet and beating of drums, kept them constantly excited and busy, and set them wondering. Some of them, refugees from the suburbs with their masters, visibly took their power of finding their way about; they heeded in the choice of streets, were almost always understood, and at every corner consulted some other dog which lived in the neighborhood. These suburban dogs were scarce still at night, passing vehicles ran from them, the almost total absence of the usual musical, the exercising of the mables and the national guards on the public parades, the continual sounding of the trumpet and beating of drums, kept them constantly excited and busy, and set them wondering.
