PITTSBURGH POST. DA GAMBLER'S STORY. It is now nearly four years since business of apportance compelled me to make a long and gerous journey through the wilds of New I chanced to have for a traveling companion a noted California gambler, by the name of Tom Hickman, and as the Apache tribe of In-dians were just at that time unusually hostile, able to me.

Mounted on our hardy little Mexican poward, apparently indifferent of the surrounding The monotony of being a silent sentinel is at all times irksome, but never more so than when traveling in an Indian country; I reminded Hickman of this fact, and proposed to him that he would narrate to me a brief sketch of his many strange adventures."

He replied, "Indeed you are right as to its having been strange, for so it often appears to me, when I recall any portion of it; but lister "I was born on the right bank of the Missouri river, several hundred miles above its mouth. My father owned a small farm and a few slaves. There was a large family of us. and we all had to work hard to obtain the means of subsistence. Schools were scarce in our parts, and the only lesson I studied after working hours was the art of playing cards.
"Seated on logs, I have spent night after night in gambling with our negroes. The stakes usually played for in these games consisted of such minor articles as pocket knives, buttons, &c; but oftimes it happened that even these worldly goods were scarce among us, and then we played to kill time, as the saying is. "The flatboats on the river would frequenty tie up at our wood yard, and the first sum of money I ever won was obtained from a boatour log-house. It was the first time in my life I had been so far from home, or had seen a settlement. With a merry heart I made the journey to the place, but with a sad one I re-turned. It was the old story of the green country boy being duped by the viilage sharp-"Not satisfied with seeing the sights, I made new acquaintances, and linally I fell into the hands of a professional black-leg, who easily won my horse and saddle.

"Bankrupt both in pocket and in spirits, I traveled home on foot. This adventure made me resolve never to touch another card, and for five years I kept my promises.

"The Mexican war broke out, and I enlisted in a company of volunteers, and was actively engaged during the war. Fighting and gaming, you know, go hand and hand, therefore my old hebits returned to me.

"When peace was delaced, and our company of the progression of the peace was delaced, and our company." "When peace was declared, and our com-pany disbanded, I visited my friends in Misouri, and then, in company with some emigrants, I started overland to California "The skill I here exhibited as a dealer of the Mexican game of monte, caused my ser "I had thus been employed about si months, when one night I was drawn into an encounter with a desperado, and, in self-defense. crai lavorite for Family, Light Leather, and a great variety of work. It has been gotten up with reference to furnishing a strong and durable, yet light and tasty Machine, at a less price than either of the above. It runs very easy, rapidly, and is pronounced the best machine now in market, for $50.

No. 6. This is a Machine got up on an entirely new principle, different from anything ever before offered to the public, and we confidently assert that for family use it has not an equal. It is very light and tasty, runs very rapidly is almost noiseless in its operation, and uses a atraight needle. It is scarranged as to be ulterly impossible to miss stitches. It has a tension on both sides, and carries a large supply of thread on the under spool. The motions are gained by two small cranks that run without perceptible noise. The two threads are worked in such a manner as never to both pull at the same time, and consequently little liable to break. The scan is very clastic, and the thread does not break are worked in such a manner work better than any machine now in market, as it uses silk, cotton or linen with equal facility. Price, $50.

Descriptive circulars furnished gratis.

by be done by hand.

The first place in public estimation is now justly accorded to the Grover & Baker Machine, for family sewing, for the following reasons—1st. It is more simple and easily kept in order than any other Machine. 2d. It makes a seam which will not ip our ravel, though every third stitch is out. 3d. It sews from two ordinary spools, and thus all twohle of winding thread is avoided, while the same machine can be adapted at pleasure, by a mere change of spools, to all varieties of work. 4th. The same machine runs silk, linen thread, common spool cotton, with equal heality. 5th.
