

The Daily Post.

FRIDAY MORNING, OCT. 28. THE REPUBLICANS—THE GAZETTE DENIES ITS PARTY CREED, AND MAKES FALSE CHARGES AGAINST THE POST.

There was a time when the "old Gazette" was regarded as a truthful paper, but those who now have the control of its columns have utterly taken away its ancient prestige...

As far as the Post is concerned, this is a bare-faced falsehood. We have never published any extracts from the public speeches and writings of a large number of leading men of the Republican party...

The Post published no extracts from any speech of Phillips, Garrison, Giddings, nor any other Abolitionist, to sustain its position in charging lawlessness and treason upon the Republicans.

In our paper of Monday of the present week, these extracts were published. Here is a list of their authors. We gave the words of Dr. Cutler, a Republican orator, in 1850, at Montpelier, Gen. James Watson Webb, a Republican leader in the Philadelphia Convention...

For instance, the first act of injustice which I pointed out at Worcester, and proved to be untrue by undeniable facts, was the charging the democratic party to "assault the rights of the Union." I had no part in this, and I had no part in the charge that the democratic party had "assaulted the rights of the Union."

Look at the list which we have given of the authors of the extracts which we published. The Gazette says they are not Republicans. Who and what are they?

Look at the list which we have given of the authors of the extracts which we published. The Gazette says they are not Republicans. Who and what are they? We have given the names of many prominent men of the time, including Oren Lovjoy, of Illinois, who would shoot in God's name...

These and this kind of men made the Republican party. The Post and other journals have wisely called the attention of the country to the dangerous tendency of their doctrine. The Gazette studies itself by denying the recorded sentiments of its party and its most eminent leaders.

JUDGE DOUGLAS

REPLY TO JUDGE BLACK

In Harper's Magazine for September 1850, published articles, the dividing line between the Federal and local authority in the Territories of the United States...

Instead of replying to the well-known proposition, the author of the article in the magazine for the last year, and which were published in the Harper's Magazine for September, the reviewer deemed it consistent with fair dealing to quote by name the names of those who had made the charge...

And meaning of this act not to legislate slavery into any Territory or State, nor to exclude it therefrom, but to leave the people thereof perfectly free to form and regulate their domestic institutions in their own way, subject only to the Constitution and the laws of the United States.

But the Attorney General does not preserve the analogy between the dividing line between the Federal and local authority in the Territories of the United States...
