By order of DAVID D: BRUCE, Chairman THE UNION CANNOT BE SUSTAINED

BY FORCE. This Union cannot be held together by force. No drop of blood must be shed in the effort to keep the Northern and Southern sections of these States under one government. There can be nothing clearer than these propositions, and all thoughtful men are settled in the belief that if disunion must come, it must be peaceful, and, to some extent, deliberate.

GOVERNOR PACKER'S MESSAGE. before our readers, the second Annual Message of Governor Packer. It is a most able holders. State paper, and one which, in every respect deserves the attention of every Pennsylvanian. It is a clear, modest document, free from all circumfocution, and totally devoid of all effort to elevate a public individual at the expense of the great interests of the State. Like all of Governor Packer's messages, this one is plain, concise and most ably written. He carefully reviews the financial and governmental affairs of the State. His recommendations are wise, and As the Governor's message is an important State paper, which every citizen of the State should carefully read and digest its contents for himself, our duty for the present is performed in laying a complete and early sage, come up before the Legislature for fter May 1st, 1860, at Broadway, two doors THE STEREOSCOPE is the most ins tive interesting, entertaining, amusing and exci-ing of modern inventions. None are too young, none too old, none-too intelligent, me too uneducated, to acknowledge its worth and eanty.

No home is complete without it, and it must and will penetrate everywhere.
It presents to your view-every part of the world, in all the relief, boldness, perspective, and sharpness of detall, as if you were on the spot.
