LOUCAL AFFAIRS. The Franklin Anniversity As we have several times stated, this is the occasion of the anniversary of the birth of Benjamin Franklin, the Printer, Patrick Phi-losopher, and a traverse, the patrion sain of the typographical order in this country, who have decided upon appropriately calebrain his natal day by a panque and ball. The ar-rangements are of the most complete pharacter, and every provision has been inside for the comfort and enjoyment of those unadding to participate The printer of our city are live, whole sould men, and mever do things by halves; this entertainment will be characterishalves; this entertainment will be characteris tic of the craft, as the managers who have completed the arrangement of the details have pleted the arrangement of the details have spared no time or expense in making the ban-quet and ball surpass any of its character. The "ball" will commence "rolling" at about eight o'clock this evening, at Lafayetto Hall, a full o clock this evening, at Latayetto Hall, a full brass and string band having been engaged for the occasion, and those who like to indulge in the maxy dance can gratify themselves to be indexed.

brass and string band having been engaged for the occasion, and those who like to indulge in the maxy dance can gratify themselves to their hearts, contant. At about eleven o'clock sup-red will be served, in Fricker's best style, and judging from the bill of fare, we think it will satisfy the greatest gourmand or epicure. The cloths being removed, toasts, speeches and songs will be in order, which over, those so inclined will adjourn to the ball room and extend their hilarity into the "wee sma' hours beyant the twal." For the credit of the craft and city, we hope the banquet may pass off pleasantly, and be the occasion of a pleasant re-union among the members of the fraternity, from the highest to the lowest. The Post, in order to give its employees the full bonefit of the cocasion, will go to press early in the evening, and if, on Wedneedy morning, we, are found without the listest mews, we feel sure our readers will for once indulge us.
