It may be seen that the sale of the residue of the real estate of Howard H. Ryan, will take place at the Court House, on Wednesday, February 13, at 10 o'clock. The property now offered is among the most valuable and desirable that has been offered for years. We would especially call attention to the "Spring Hill" property. This place adjoins the residence of Adam Reineman, Esq., and commanding, as it does, a most beautiful prospect location. It is within a short hour's walk of the city. The buildings on the premises con-&c., &c., one large stone basement stable with andsomely finished hot-house, with a chance esortment of flowers, also a number of hot eds. There is also a never failing spring, covered by a good substantial stone house, & In addition to the above, we may mention that the ground attached to the mansion con tains eight acres, all in an excellent state of cultivation; two acres of which are planted with the best Catawba and foreign grapes, and have yielded for several years from seven hun-dred to one thousand gallons of excellent wine: one half acre is planted with the choicest varieties of strawberries, gooseberries, &c., &c, and a great variety of the best qualities of plum, pear, apple, apricot and cherry trees. The above property and the adjoining pieces are alvery desirable, not only for their short distance from the city, but also by reason of their great prospective increase in value. We may at some other time call attention to the property on Ferry street. Mr. C. E. Roper, at "Ryan's buildidga," the gentleman now residing on the Spring Hill property, will cheerfully give any information concerning it to persons who may call upon him. Application may be made to John J. Mitchel, Esq., No. 87 Fifth street, or to J. M. Fass, No. 21 Pennsylvania Avenue, for hand bills.
