

PEACE. There are many reasons why calm thinking and conservative men regard a peace policy in the settlement of the present difficulties between the sections of the Union, as the best.

The government is in no condition to commence and carry on a war of exhaustion. This Mr. Lincoln seems to have discovered since his inaugural message was delivered. The government has not the ability to maintain Mr. Lincoln's position of "holding, occupying and possessing" the Southern forts.

Peace is the best, because it is impracticable for the government to force war by subjugation as its end and aim. Subjugation would be in effect to destroy the Union. The object of the war cannot be to preserve the integrity of the Union, but it is too late to do this by fighting. Mr. Lincoln, therefore, does wisely in abandoning that which is impracticable, and not uttering words which are impossible to do for both the power and the means.

Mr. Lincoln has backed down from the positive declarations of his inaugural. He has confessed his weakness, and might have saved himself this humiliation had he not insisted on the true position of the government as to the making of his inaugural declarations.

The forces from Fort Sumter cannot fail to have a good effect in allaying the sectional excitement. What South Carolina thinks a meeting held in Lawrenceville, on Tuesday evening last, in relation to the movement of the Citizens' Passenger Railway.

Mr. Lincoln has no desire to precipitate a collision, and it is willing by moderation and conciliation to show them that he has no wish to injure them, even where his official duty would warrant him in using force to compel submission to the laws.

If the interests of the two sections are found upon fair investigation, to be so opposed that it is impossible to maintain the same government, it is better to admit an existing fact that the revolution has taken place, peacefully, rather than to have a bloody civil war and then to proceed to settle the matter.

NEW WAY TO PAY OLD DEBTS. Seclusion is very queer, when you come down to some of its ramifications. And its prospects, who dwell in the Terra del Fuego—the land of fire—method to justify it before the world. This, only a little while since, it was threatened to exclude from the Southern Confederacy the slave property of the border States.

AMUSEMENTS. That well conducted shows of amusement are an advantage in every large city, there can be no doubt; but in order that national amusement of such an order will be maintained, it is necessary to have the support of the intelligent public.

Where an amusement is offered, in itself of a vicious character, or tending to vice, it is the duty of the public authorities to suppress it. The public with one voice supports the course which the Mayor is now taking for closing the low concert saloons, many of which have long been a nuisance in our city, leading the young and old alike to idleness and all sorts of vice.

THE ONE HORSE CAR RIVALRY. We publish this morning the proceedings of a meeting held in Lawrenceville, on Tuesday evening last, in relation to the movement of the Citizens' Passenger Railway.

Philadelphia Cattle Market. The market for cattle has been sold during the past week at from 7 to 9 cents per pound. Eighty-five cows were sold, and calves at from 3 to 4 cents, and pigs at from 4 to 5 cents per pound.

THE RE-ACTION. The result of the Borough Election in Lawrenceville, is an indication that Mr. Lincoln's inaugural is to be received, "over the left," at the spring elections in this county, which will take place in the townships on Friday, March 15th.

Appointing Foreigners. The New York Herald notices the fact that the controversy now going forward in the Republican press about Carl Schurz, and other foreigners who have applied for the office of consul at New York, is very curious, to say the least.

Conservative men trading in the Bureau. The Secretary of the Bureau of Land Office has been ever since the Secessionist might provoke a collision, and thus attract the entire South, or rather the whole country, to the cause of the Secessionists.
