The record shows that the Republicans held these views of secession. Like Toots they said "it's of no consequence;" and what right have they to say that Mr. Buchanan should have held and acted upon a different view. Did they know they were lying all the time? Was it their fixed purpose to charm the people with their syren song of no danger until they could insure the dissolution of the Union? It looks that way when we take a retrospective view of the past six months and its occurrences. Mr. Lincoln said nothing was the matter, and that "nobody was hurt," and yet in his present writing. first month of the Presidency he follows the advice of his party and abandons Fort Sumter, says the revenue cannot be col- blast in New York.
