On Thursday afternoon, at three o'clock, the Supreme Court of the United States, has Hebrew congregation Rodul Scholim, which nterpreted signifies "The Pursuars of Peace," laid the corner stone of a new Synagogue on Hancock street, in the Fourth Ward. The occasion was the first of the kind in Pitts. burgh, our Hebrew fellow citizens having hitherto worshipped, and do so now, in some of the Halls of the city. The ceremonies, although not particularly different from those on similar occasions among our Christain congregations, were sufficiently interesting and

Mr. Arenhold officiated on the occasion and delivered a most eloquent and appropriate discourse upon Religious Liberty as it exists in this glorious country, and counseled a strict adherence to the Constitution and laws. He concluded with a fervent prayer for the up-holding of the freedom of religion and the perpetuity of the Constitution of the United States. He was followed by Mr. Cohen, a teacher of the Hebrew school, English class, who delivered an appropriate oration. In the corner stone was deposited a box, in which
