LOOK OUT FOR IMPOSTERS.

In times of excitement all sorts of rascals thrive. We have been requested to warn the public against a set of villains who have recently been practicing a new dodge in this city. Two or three of them in a buggy drive up to a house, and one goes in with a piece of linen or a table cloth, or some such article and stating that he is compelled to sell it, offers it for ten or fifteen cents, not one-tenth its cost. This attracts attention from its cheapness and frontery. throws the purchasers, who are usually women,
