THE FUNERAL OF MB. WATT .- Mr. James C. Watt. whose sudden death on Thursday evening we noticed, was interred in the Allegheny Cemetery on Saturday afternoon. The funeral was a large one and attracted much attantion. The Harper Zonaves and two other Rome Guard companies, in full uniform, with arms reversed, preceded the Union Cavalry, of which Mr. Watt was a member. In front of the cavalry was a brass band, who played a ch and in the midst of the pany was an elegant hearse, with the body of extent in a fine nottin. Immediately behind diste cause of Mr. Watt's death, led by a colored man Behind the cavalry followed some loved and will be deeply regretted by all who note.

FRMALE PICK-POCKET. - On Friday, when the Zonave Cadets left for New York, a large crowd assembled at the depot to see them off. Beveral ladies missed their purses and one of them accused a well dressed young girl in the crowd of taking bers. At the same time another lady missed her purse, and the girl was seen to be much confused. She was not arrested, however, and when she moved off four pocket books were found upon the spot where she had been standing. The ladies followed her down street to a warehouse, which she entered, and in the meantime Chief of Police Patterson was summoned, but when he visited the warehouse he found that the "bird had Good MAN. - Although enaulers do not dec brate the shoulders of Sergeant J. G. Henry, of the Armstrong Rifles, he is, notwithstanding, a sound institution, and one who is proper appreciated by those who know him, as was fully shown the other day, when Capt. W. H. Piper, the popular mail contractor, presented him with an elegant cavalry aword and nistol. The speeches upon the occasion of this presentation were most happy, and all who heard them appeared satisfied that if the gallant Sergeant ever met Jeff. Davis, somebody would be hurt.
