

GEN. SCOTT.

The evident design of our Commander-in-chief has a philosophical knowledge of human character and is a great statesman as well as a great military chief, to make this war one of exhaustion...

It is remarked on all hands that General Scott has succeeded in establishing a discipline superior to that of any army heretofore gathered in so short a time...

Beginning with things at the very worst, and ending with things at the very best, the country takes greater pride to make his guests comfortable in all respects than Harry Shirr.

General Scott knows well that the system of terrorism towards Union men which the Southerners exercise, will revert upon them. They have impressed Union men, confiscated their property and deprived them of every right of an American citizen.

The Philadelphia North American has a capital article upon the degradation of politics and the necessity of having the right men in the right places, especially at the present crisis of affairs.

The papers state that Gen. Crockett is a much more sensible diplomat than Mr. Clayton. Mr. Clayton minds his own business, and does not interfere with the duties of any other minister.

WISCONSIN MONEY.

We regret to learn by telegraph of the riotous attacks upon the Banking House of Milwaukee. The cause is stated to have been that the Bankers on Saturday last threw out of circulation a large number of the issues of the Bank of the State.

Now the fact that these issues were worthless was not a fact created by the Bankers who threw out the notes, but by the people themselves, who, through their representatives, created an unsecure and bad currency.

The Comptroller of Wisconsin states that since his report of May 25, about $175,000 bonds of secured States have been withdrawn since May 15, about $800,000 of the poorer sort of bills have been destroyed, leaving the present circulation some $3,740,000, against $1,151,572 on the first of October last.

The Effect of the Blockade. The military movements around Washington alarm the Southerners, and have given them the largest deal more present inconvenience.

It is observed that this capital hotel is doing a good business for the season of the year, and so it ought, for no landlord in the country takes greater pains to make his guests comfortable in all respects than Harry Shirr.

LETTER FROM CAMP SCOTT.

CAMP SCOTT, STATE ISLANDS, June 21, 1862. Dear Port:—Although not personally acquainted with you, I thought it a duty (as an old reader) to write you a few lines, explanatory of matters and things in regard to Camp Scott.

Since our arrival here, (although comparatively) we have fastidiously, reverently, but bravely, and on a grand scale, treated a day or two by the great and noble spirit of the late President, General Scott.

Our camp is situated upon a beautiful spot about half a mile from the beach and about two miles from the head of the bay.

From Harper's Ferry we learned that General Patterson had reached Point of Rocks at about 10 o'clock on Saturday.

THE SITUATION.

Affairs at Washington have assumed a new aspect which may indicate some important episode in the history of the war.

There is considerable activity among the troops at Washington. Two or three regiments were moved across the Long Bridge into Virginia yesterday.

It is observed that this capital hotel is doing a good business for the season of the year, and so it ought, for no landlord in the country takes greater pains to make his guests comfortable in all respects than Harry Shirr.
