The English government knighted Sir William Armstrong for inventing a plan by which, at great expense, a new and complicated gun, could be made to shoot at long runge. General James has invented a plan by which any old gun can out-shoot Sir William Arm-strong's new and oostly one. Thus we have another illustration of the superi-strong's new and oostly one. Thus we have another illustration of the superi-tority of American inventive genius over European, in every department of pracprobable that at the highest elevation it poured in upon them a perfect storm The single states of the second states of the secon
