bill authorizing the President to call on this superior ground does indeed izing the Treasury Department to borrow two hundred and fifty millions of dollars, and a bill empowering the President to use the army and navy in the collection of revenue and to close the collection of revenue, and to close ports in the rebeillious states.

July 11th-The Senate passed the House bill for back payment of voluners, and a resolution expelling the seceding senators. The House passed the army and navy bills, which, in the the army and navy bills, which, in the aggregate, appropriate one hundred and ninety-one millions of dollars, thus detailed:

House passed the interval was under the from below, and that Burr's band was crushed below, and that Burr's band was crushed below. The formation was very different, and he could act on no other

July 12th-The House passed the

the services of volunteers to the number of five hundred thousand, and ap- of the written law. In these, the expropriating for their expenses five hun- ample of overleaping the law is of dred millions of dollars. Further to facilitate the rapid transaction of public business, the House Committee of Ways and Means has already prepared all the bills intended for submission during the session, and in less than a week it is expected that Congress will be ready to adjourn. Thus we see how imperatively the will of the people determines the action were not intended, and which involved of the government. Party interests are forgotten in national necessities; partisans become patriots; there is no delay may be difficult, but the good officer is but that which gives free speech even bound to draw it at his own paril, and to the opponents of the war, and per-haps the most important session of Contives, at eye. at two at eagli gress in the history of the Union will be recorded as the shortest and wisest. A Hint to Women. The Springfield Republican in an ar ticle on what women may do at the present crisis, says, after alluding to their providing nurses:

"But women must not suppose when they have provided nurses for the mili ever before opened in this city, and would respectfully solicit an early call from our patrons and the public to examine the same for themselves every thing needful for the sick and wounded, that they have borne their part of the burdens of the war. If the war continues, it will increase every man's expenses and reduce his income and the economies of the household will become more important. There are very few families that cannot retremely to a substantial amount in artiticles of mere luxury and show, ... There are few women who cannot help essentially to alleviate the burden of dull times to the father of the family by a reduction of personal expenses, without the shoriffce of anything sessential to their respectability or comfort. If where he will be glad to see his old friends and public generally. Will also do CUTTING for the Paris styles are not followed as families for bevs and men.

M. LITTLE dosely and conscientiously as usual, and enough is saved in bonnets, ribbons and laces this year to arm and equip a volunteer for the campaign, the woman who makes the patriotic sacrifics will not be less attractive. In fact, women may bear almost equally with the la-bors and sacrifices that war makes necessary, and is only devied the privilege of exposing her life for the country in the battle field. There she falls in the person of husband, lover and son, and suffer thus often more than those who
