There is one most striking and distinguishing feature of your mission that Alike in the inaction of the camp, should never be lost sight of. You are not about to invade the territory of foreign enemy, nor is your purpose that of conquest or spoliation. Should you occupy the South, you will do so as friends and protectors, and your aim will not be to subjugate that betrayed what is infinitely more inspiring, the honor of that blood-bought and benifiand distracted country, but to deliver it from the remorseless military despotism by which it is trodden down Union men, who are your brethres, throng in those States and will listen for the coming footsteps of your army; as the Scottish maiden of Lucknow listened for the airs of her native and. It is true, that amid the terrors and darkness which prevail there, they are silenced and are now unseen, but be assured that by the light of the Stars you carry upon your banner you will find them all. It has been constantly as serted by the conspirators throughout the South, that this is a war of subjugation on the part of the Government of the United States, waged for the er-termination of Southern institutions, and by vandals and misoreants, who, in the fury of their passions, spare neither steeped himself in infamy as to publish, in choice billingsgate, this base calum-ny, through an official proclamation. CONCLUSION TO-MORROW
