To Capi. Lis. B. F.y. Assistant Adjetent General:
Sir.—In obedience to instructions been detached by the General as a Feserve at the point when we left the turnpike. It took post on a hill on our received on the 20th inst., the division right and rear, and for some time galander my command was under arms in light marching order, with two days lantly held the enemy in check with cooked rations in their haversacks, and commenced the march at half-past two ed to my division, which was joined A. M. on the 21st, the brigade of Col. onel Franklin leading, tollowed by those of Colonels Wilcox and Howard mer, who cannonaded them, was anxious At Centreville we found the road filled to engage the enemy ... The ground with troops, and were detained three being unfavorable, I ordered them back hours to allow the divisions of General out of range of fire. Finding drampes Tyler and Colonel Hunter to pass. I sible to rally any of the regiments we in the rear of the latter. Between two and three miles beyond distance in the rear, where I hoped to Centreville we left the Warrenton turn make a stand with a section of Arnold's pike turning into a country road on the right. Captain Wright accompanied the head of Colonel Hunter's col. try. In this I utterly failed, and we umn, with directions to stop at a road which turned in to the left to a ford had advanced on in the morning the point where we turned off from the some troops beyond the Run, but notes turnpike and Sudley's Springs, at company would form Istepped backs which latter point Colonel Hunter's diffew moments at the hospital to see what vision was to cross. No such road was arrangements could be made to save the found to exist, and about eleven A. M., wo found ourselves at Sudley's Springs, about ten miles from Centreville, with one brigade of Colonel Hunter's divison still on our side of the run. Be the surgeons, soon after fell into the fore reaching this point the battle had liands of the Secession cavalry that commenced. We could see the smoke followed us closely: A company of rising on our left from two points, a cavalry crossed the rear and secred in of troops from the direction of Mathe passage of the troops of the division the remainder of our retreates in our front, I ordered forward the First brigade to fill their canteens. Before this was accomplished the leading regiments of Colonel Hunter's division became engaged. Zouaves killed four, wounded one, dispersing them. The discomfiture of this cavalry was completed by a fire from Capt. Collum's company of United.

Lieut. F. N. Farquian, of the Ragi-Capt. Collum's company of United States cavalry, which killed and wounded several men. Col. Farnham, with as a regiment, did not appear again on skirmishers.

I then led up the Minnesota regiment, which was also repulsed, but retired in tolerably good order. It did good service in the woods on our right tired in tolerably good order. It did good service in the woods on our right flank, and was among the last to retire, moving off the field with the Third United States infantry. Next was led forward the First Michigan, which was also repulsed, and retired in considerable confusion. They were rallied and helped to hold the woods on our right. The Brooklyn Fourteenth then appeared on the ground, coming forward in gallant style. I led them forward to the left, where the Alabama regiment had been posted in the early part of the action, but had now disappeared, but soon came in sight of the line of the enemy drawn up beyond the clump of 15 do Frather. would run from fifty to seven hundred yards to the rear, and continue to fire—fortunately for the brave ones—very LADIES CONGRESS HERE GAYESS LADIES CONGRESS HERE GAYES LADIES CONGRESS HERE GAYESS LADIES CONGRESS HERE GAYES LADIES CONGRESS HERE CONGRESS LADIES CONGRESS HERE CONGRESS LADIES CONGRESS HERE CONGRESS LADIES CONGRESS HERE CONGRESS LADIES CONGRESS LADIES CONGRESS LADIES CONGRESS LADIES CONGRESS LADIES CONGRESS LADIES CONGRES LADIES CONGRESS LADIES CONGRES LADIES C
