He had not been carried far before he was lodged against a tree, to which he make his mark in a manner that will be clung with the tenacity of a man struggling for life. After a time his strength returned sufficiently to admit of his climb ing the tree, and there he remained until daylight, when he was taken from his perilous position, only to learn that his entire family had perished in the flood. One of the children was, as we have stated, found the following afternoon two miles lower down the stream. Two others were discovered on Wednesday, lodged in the forks of a tree, while the fourth was found in a field belonging to Mr. Archibald, about four miles from Freeport, whither it had been washed by the current. Parties are still in search of the mother, but as yet have not succeeded in finding her. The poor woman was an invalid, and was, therefore, unable to save either the children or herself. The iron portion is very graceful, and is a proof that our Pittsburgh staplo metal can be as well adapted to ecclesiastical architecture as it has been to bank buildings, and other such edifices. — The spire will be one of the ornaments of our city, and the congregation of St. Phil-omena's deserve great credit for having by its erection completed their beautiful

One visit will be sufficient to verify this assertion.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.-Yesterday af ernoon, about half-past one o'clock, the steamer Resolute was ordered from Acquia Creek to Mathias point for the purpose of reconnoitering, and seeing a batesu filled with barrels, on shore, just below the Point, a boat was sent from the Resolute with six men to bring of the batteau.—
No sooner had the boat togohed the beach than a voiley of musket talls was opened up in them from a secession force concealed in the woods, killing three of the men instantly—namely: John James Fuller. of Brooklyn, master's mate, who it was since ascertained was pierced by ten balls: George Seymour, captain of the gun, of New York, by seven, and Thomas Tully, of Boston, by two balls. Earnest Walters native of England, was wounded in the head-it is feared fatally. Another volley was fired by the enemy as they move their position, or as soon as they had time to reload. The Resolute was about seven hundred yards from the shore, and fired into the midst of the rebels one shot of can ister and nine of Sharpnell, with, it 1 thought, extensive havoc, while other reports are positive to this effect. The scene on board the small boat is described as heart sidening—the dead lying outstretched in it, tovered with their own

The boat was towed a short distance from the shore, by one of the crew, named Sanderson, who quietly sipped into the water for that purpose, and thus concealed himself from the enemy. The battle near Leesburg gradually assumes an air of plausibility. It appears that 1700 federalists forded the Potomac near or opposite Leesburg, but during the night the river rose and the Confederate forces surrounded them. The federals lost 800 killed and 1400 were taken prisoners. The Confederate loss was small. Passengers from Manassas this afternoon report this news as current there and generally credited.
