and much of the improved feeling can be traced directly to the prompt manner in which the gov ernment has been supplied with money to car on the war. The movement has assured the country that the issue made by the rebels is to be met and vigorously prosecuted to the end, and the nore apparent it is that the war will be a short one the greater the disposition to take part in active alness. With this beginning in woolen manuactures, so intimately connected is all business we shall soon see corresponding action in almost all pursuits. The coming winter will, no doubt, for which some proper provisions should be mad but the prospect of employment is much better than a fortnight ago, and is likely stead ly to im

To this end, however, it is quite necessary that the Government credit should be maintained, and, to make this most certain, private capitalists should come up promptly to the aid of the banks in subscribing for the fifty mill on loav, which has been put in the most invi-ing shapd. The fodes or boads of $100 bear interest at the rate of two cents per day or $7 30 per year, and at the same rate on all larger sums, which is aid semi-annually, on ccupons, which makes it unnecessary to send on the bonds. This is a good unnecessary to send on the bonds. I his is a good rate of interes', and is as safe as the government, without the maintenance of which no stock secu-rity is certainly worth anything. There is every inducement, therefore, for a prompt and liberal response to this call of the government. The nation must have money, and it is much wiser to furnish to n the go'd terms offered than to have to gur-render it to force.

It would be rather ridiculous to call it either a hard fought, a bloody, or a glori-ous field; but it was an important one; it was a most trying one to the Federalists, who were badly fed and hard worked, in a waterless country, on a July day, for twelve hours; they were exposed to the demoralizing effects of long continued artil-lery fire. In spite of their want of dis-cipline and the very unaccountable rout, Federalists at first showed alacrity but after a time they became torpid and difficult to handle. No one questions the difficult to handle. No one questions the general bravery of Americans, native or adopted, on either side; but a defeat is rendered worse than ridiculous by attempts to turn it into a triumph. Lat the unfor tunate brave rest content with the sympa thy they deserve, and shun the ovations which are due of the conqueror. Praise and flattery cannot retake a gun, hor save and natively called visit a gate, but are a standard, nor win a battle—even if it be from eoz populi in Broadway or Bowery. It must be granted that the Confeder-including, I presume, the forces between it and Richmond. Divide that again .----There were certainly 20,000 between Mon roe, the Court and Richmond, of whom 10,000 could be spared; and on the western side of the capital of the confederate States there was available at least another corps of 10,000, which could have been readily strengthened by 10,000 or 15,000 mor from the south in case of a supreme effort. There seems no reason not connecte with transport, equipment, or discipline why the confederates should not have been able last week to take the field with 75,000 men, in two corps; one quite strong enough to menace the force on the right bank of the Potomac, and to hold it in check, or to prevent it going over to the other side; the other to cross into Mary. land, which is now in parts only kep quiet by force, and to advance down on.
