The East Speech of Stephen A. Douglas.

In the speech made by Stephen A. Douglas at Chicago, May 1st, he used the following words: "We must cease dividing party organizations and platforms on the basis of sectional interests..."

"I am for supporting the government. I do not ask you to administer it. It is the government of my country, and as such I shall give it my support..."

OUR COUNTRY—NOT OUR PARTY.

The politicians die hard. The grand movement which the people are now making to divest themselves of the influence of professional office-seekers is raising this class of persons to desperation..."

We earnestly urge upon the people of the country, at the coming election, that they should not vote for any man who is not a Union man..."

CHANCE FOR SHARP-SHOOTERS.

A gentleman who resides on St. Louis has just set up a regiment of sharpshooters and desires that any qualified person in this city should get up a company to join his regiment...

All the works below Alexandria and above Washington are now considered capable of resisting any attack the rebels could make upon them...

This Hon. Joseph A. Wright, late Minister at Berlin, made a speech at Indianapolis on Saturday, in which he avowed his determination to support the Government...

THE WAR.

There are most gratifying evidences all over the country, that the people are now fully satisfied with the manner in which this great contest for the preservation of a free government is being conducted...

But it cannot be denied, that with all this confidence in the present administration of the war, that we have reason to look for great events within a very short period of time, and intense anxiety is felt on every side for the result...

Do not give up the Union. Preserve it in the name of the Fathers of the Revolution—preserve it in the sacred name of Liberty—preserve it for the faithful and devoted lovers of the Constitution in the rebellious States...

THE COMING CONVENTION.

In the coming Union Convention there is every disposition on the part of Democratic deal in the most patriotic and liberal manner. We speak of Democrats, because we are better able to judge of their sentiments and know their views...

The Union Convention will be or should be filled with patriotic, sensible and conservative men. Let them start with the determination to banish the claims of partisans...

THE WESTERN UNIVERSITY.

This institution has commenced its fall and winter term with a good number of scholars. The professors are fully filled, and every attention is paid to the mental and moral training of the pupils...

In the different districts to elect delegates next Saturday, the Democrats will, we presume, select their own delegates, untrammelled by Republicans, and so on to the other side...

Our letter writers at the seat of war seem to hear of a great many things which have not the slightest foundation in fact, regarding men in high authority. They need not write us these camp rumors for we cannot publish them.

TRUE DEMOCRACY.

THE UNION MUST AND SHALL BE PRESERVED.

On Tuesday, the 3d of September, the Hon. Daniel S. Dickinson, made the most eloquent Union speech in Cortland county, New York...

We come here, not as Democrats, not as Republicans, but as Americans, here to save the people. Seeing that the enemy are at the gates of the citadel, seeing that armed rebellion is threatening us, we come together to stay up the hands of the Constitution...

The Constitution is a great landmark and not a mere parchment. Every power given by the Constitution is directed to a thing to be done always and plies the power to do it...

THE CRY OF PEACE.

The great cry now is "Peace." They say: "There must be peace." We are all in favor of peace. I don't doubt that many honest men, Democrats and otherwise, with rebels, but who will look at it with half an eye can see that it is impossible...

I change no political opinions. I say with the question one way or another it is not who shall tenant and govern the capital. It is not who shall govern this great state and nation...

SEE TO IT.

Everything is politics in this country. Like the frogs, and like the locusts of Egypt, it comes up in the bed and in the kneading-trough. Politics is what ails us to Boniface; we eat, and drink, and sleep on politics [laughter and applause]...

Now let us see. Suppose there was a riot in Cortland, and a hundred men were engaged in the destruction of property. You call the magistracy together...

But the Baptists say that the Methodists set it, and the Presbyterians say and the Methodists say that both the others set it, or might have prevented it, and no one will endeavor to extinguish the flames. What a spectacle for a Christian people!

But there is an exciting going on now in order that some politicians may ride into office upon it, or have an organization that they can manage. It is not the Democratic party. I repudiate it for democracy up and down, and round about, and diagonally, and in every other sense...

Let us act together and see if we can have one occasion when we can rise above the party questions of the day. As for myself, I am enlisted for great battle with my fellow-citizens...

THE EMPEROR OF RUSSIA FOR THE UNION.

The Emperor of Russia has sent to our government a letter strongly and heartily sympathizing with the United States in its present troubles, and Mr. Secretary of State has returned a reply of grateful acknowledgment...

SOUTHERN NEWS.

KENTUCKY NEUTRALITY.—CORRESPONDENCE BETWEEN JEFF. DAVIS AND GOV. MAGOFFIN. The correspondence between Gov. Magoffin of Kentucky, and President Lincoln, relative to the preservation of the State's neutrality, has been already published...

SECRETARY SEWARD'S REPLY.

The Secretary of State has delivered to Mr. Stoelckl the following acknowledgment: DEPARTMENT OF STATE, Washington, September 7.

It is in this sense, sir, that I desire you to express sympathy, as well to the members of the general government as to the individual persons whom you may meet, giving them the assurance that in every event the cordial sympathy may count upon the most faithful and sincere wishes which his Majesty entertains for the maintenance of that great work so laboriously raised, and which appeared so rich in its future.

PROPOSITIONS OF PEACE TO ANY ARMY.

of the field, of thousands of thousands of men, with their guns pointed in sight of the Capitol, destroying life and property, and committing every crime of rapacity and moral, that can be summed up in the catalogue of depravity. I might possibly consent to drop some of their leaders, a line, but there would be a noose at the end of it. (Laughter.)

Let them think there is a party here to help them and they will fight forever. They who go for peace go for a vigorous prosecution of the war. Throw ten men in where there is one man, and prosecute it with a vigor becoming to this great people. None of them can change our former sentiments, but they can change our former respect for them both, and they can change our former respect for them both, and they can change our former respect for them both...

Let us act together and see if we can have one occasion when we can rise above the party questions of the day. As for myself, I am enlisted for great battle with my fellow-citizens...

STAND TOGETHER.

Let us act together and see if we can have one occasion when we can rise above the party questions of the day. As for myself, I am enlisted for great battle with my fellow-citizens...

Our august master cannot resign himself to admit such deplorable anticipations. His Imperial Majesty still places his confidence in that practical good sense of the citizens of the Union who appreciate so judiciously the true interests of his Majesty's empire...

Further Particulars of the Disaster on the Hannibal and St. Joseph Railroad. The "Night at Shelbina"—Railroad Truck Torn Up. Extract from a letter dated Hudson, Mo., Sept. 4th, 8:30 p.m.

At two o'clock p.m. Col. M. G. Williams of Iowa Third, with 1,100 Federal troops, Kansas and Iowa Third, attacked at Shelbina, Mo. Martin Green, with 1,500 to 2,000 men, Green's command, arrived on them with pieces of artillery, and kept up fire about one and a half hours. One man (Federal) had his foot taken by a cannon ball. Colonel Williams retreated on two trains west, to this point, leaving a number of horses and part of his camp utensils, which are now in the hands of the rebels...
