Weshington City Items. WASHINGTON CITY, October 8 -As the Campbell Artillary were passing near the President's house this stiernoon, on their why from the grand artifiery and cavalry review, the ammunition box on one of the gun carriages exploded with a noise like the report of a commor. The bex condently lifted several feet and slightly scorched, and falling into the street, were considerably bruised. They were at once placed in ambulances and taken to the hosoital. The explosion was principally at he back of the ammunition box, that secion being broken into several fragmente, while the lid on which the men were seat ed comped fracture. It is doubtless owing o these facts that they were not more seriously injured, if not killed. The wheel horses were severely scorebed. Secretary Cameron left Washington thi morning to thoroughly inspect the Pitts. burgh cannon foundry, with a view to provide an increased supply of artillery for the use of the army. Gen. J. Y. Jones, of Pa., now here procured an order for the acceptance of three regiments from that State composed of mountain men, who enter for the war. Brigadier General Strong, of N. Y will, it is said, immediately leave for Missouri for the performance of important duties connected with the Quartermasters Department. According to a telegram from General Rosecranz, he will be able fully to sustain himself against the combined forces of the rebel Generals Lee and Floyd. Neither he nor General Fremont will have occasion to complain of insufficient force, as the Administration is not unmindful of the importance of affording them all the support which their several positions require. Movements of the Rebels.
