The sum total of these subscriptions is $415,750, not half as much as it should be. Our banks have made up nearly one half this amount, leaving the individual subscriptions little over $200,000. Our community should take a greater degree of pride in this matter and use every effort or un the list up to $1,000,000. This can be done with the proper spirit on the part of corporations and individuals, and we hoop it will be. We must furnish our share of means for carrying on this war and we should do it cheerfully and at once.

Our banks have made up nearly one half the city of Pitts-burgh, one BAY HORSE.—Was taken up run-burgh, one BAY HORSE.—was taken Young's OYSTER Houses .- Oar old neighbor, Eli Young, so favorably known as proprietor of the Cornucopiae, nearly opposite the Post building, has long enjoyed an enviable reputation as a caterer, we earned by being early in market with supplies of the rarest and choicest fish and like delicacies. Notwithstanding the inconveniencies the blockade of Southern ports has occasioned him, he is determined to keep up that reputation and is now, as before, ready to furnish the best Baltimore and Chesepeake oysters, shell or can, in any desired quantity, and the finest fish in season, at his wholesale depot, under the Cornucopiae, where we can confidently recommend all wishing to supply their families with these delioacies. At Young's Exchange, Smithfield street, corper of Virgin alley, he is serving up, in his usual style, all the good things generally found at a first class eating house. He has clean, comfortable and quiet accommodations for all his patrons, including those who have dined at his house for years, and his friends from city or country. We can vouch for the relish which belongs to anything served up at the "Exchange." See the Couldock, the Pittsburgh favorite, makes his last appear-Pittsburgh favorite, makes his last appearance to evening, in a complimentary benefit tendered mm by a number of his friends and admirers. An attractive bill is offered, embracing the sterling corriedy of "Still Water runs Deep," and the beautiful domestic drama of. "The Chimnoy Corner." Mr. Couldock is justly celebrated in his personation of John Mildmay in the former, and every one admires his Wm. McKeever, tried yesterday for the former, and every one admires his assault and battery on a man named Dale Peter Probity in the latter. We expect

As many of the witnesses have left for their homes, and their address is unknown, it will be of great service to the government, and to a valuable officer, if those who have been summoned will instantly attend.

Yesterday afternoon a detachment of the 14th and 49th N. Y. regiments under Col. McQuarde made a reconnoisance two and a half miles from Falls Church, on the line of the Leesburg turnpike. They vainly endeavored to draw out a party of rebels who were concealed in the woods.— There was sharp firing on both sides but certainly without injury to any of our troops.

The rebels this afternoon burnt the house of the widow Childs, situated about half way between Fails Church and Lewinsville to the right of the Leesburg turnpike,
