CITY MATTERS. Presentation of Regimental Flags to Gen. Negley's Brigade by the State Authorities. By the early train on Thursday mornng His Excellency Andrew G. Curtin, Governor of the State, arrived here, accompanied by his staff, viz: Adjutant General Biddle, Major General Keim, Commissary General Irwin, Col. A. L. Russell, Col. J. A. Wright, Col. C. Biddle and Paymaster Maxwell; also Hon. Edgar Cowan and H. F. McReynolds, Esq The parwas escorted to the Monongabela House by Captain McNally's comapny, of Col. Stambaugh's regiment. The party took up their quarters and spent the night at he Monongahela House.

The object of their visit was the presentation of the regimental flags authorized by the State Legislature to the regiments composing General Negley's brigade, now n Camp Wilkins, preparing to move Westward. The ceremony was announced to take place at ten o'clock in the morn ing, but the inclement weather and want of sufficient notice prevented the arrange. nents from being made in time and it was accordingly postponed until afternoon, when it was expected the weather would be more favorable and everything in read/ ness on West Commons, Allegheny Cty, the spot selected for the presentation cere.

The afternoon was gloomy, but little or no rain fell, so that the postponement was a happy one in that respect. It was not until three o'clock, by which time the public began to grow impatient, that the brigade. which had been formed into line at Camp Wilkins, under the regimental officers, eached the heart of the city, and, with General Negley and his staff at the head, passed down Smithfield street to the Monongahela House, where Gov.
