Court of Oyer and Terminer. Before Judges McClure, Mellon, Adams and Parke.

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 80th, 1861. Our readers, will remember the trial, at the June term of Court, of Robert Cowell, sr, and John Cunningham, for the murder of David Frew, a young man about twenty-four years of age, on the night of the 8d of June last, by stabbing him in the right side of the neck, severing the carotid srtery and causing almost immediate death. During the trial, Robert Emmett Cowell, a grand-son of the elder defendant and nephew of Cunningham, (who is son-in-law of Cowell) about thirteen years of age, testified that while the difficulty was going on he ran into the house, got a knife from the kitchen table, returned and struck the fatal blow. I have been gradually growing dealer and dealer. I have tried numerous physicians and remedies without any effect, the noise in my head increasing to a very distressing exists. From seeing the testimonial of a clergy man, well known to me: I was induced to put mysait under D. VON.
MORCHISK ERS treatment even minists ago. My è was a very obstinate one. months treatment became somewhat discouraged but, yet persevening. I am more than happy to state that the noises to my head, so distressing have entirely left me, and that my hearing is very much improved as all my friends and those in business connection with me can testify. From my marked improvement I am fully, satisfied that, I will recover the hearing which I thought hopeless by lost to me.
