CONFEDERATE POSTAGE STAMPS. The first of the new Confederate States postal stamps were issued last week, and were esgerly bought up. The new stamp is green, with a lithographic likeness of President Davis within double oval border, surmounted with the inscription, "Confederate States of America." Outside of the circle, and at the head of the tamp, is the word "postage," and at the ower edge its denomination, "five cents."

PREPARATIONS FOR THE WINTER Large quantities of timber and a great number of sames have been conveyed during the past week over the Central road to Manassas, for the purpose, richably, of winter quarters for Confederate props in that immediate vicinity. Several of the bales of blankets brought by the Bermuda, from England, with the the from England, were also dispatched to the same destination. Historical and the VROM THE NORTH CAROLINA COAST. [From the Richmond Dispatch Oct. 19.] By an arrival at Norfolk on Thursday evening everything is reported quiet at Boanoke Island. The Confederate fleet Roanoke Island. The Confederate fleet that went down to Hatters, on Monday last failed to entire the Federals out from their batteries, though two days were occupied in the efforts to get a fight. The Norfolk Day Book apports that the Federals are preparing to, make an attack on Roanoke Island, and for that purpose are throwing large "enforcements into Hatters, where Gen. Mannfield Assin command.
