Before ten o'clock seven of the largest steamers of the fleet had passed the batteries. When the St. Mary's passed the batteries. When the St. Mary's left, from whose passengers was obtained our account of the first part of the action, a most terrific cannonading was going on. The flyht continued until the departure of the Emma, at twelve c'clock, and when the Savannab left at two c'clock the firing was unabeted, except at the Bay Point Fattery, which had been silenced between eleven and twelve o'clock. At this time eleven and twelve o'clock. At this time a tremendous cannonading was kept up by the fleet, consisting of some thirty odd steamers and gunboats, which was returned by Fort Walker and the battery on Hilton Gen. McLinstry Under Arrest-Sturgls in Command. Sr. Louis, Nov. 14.—Upon his arrival BYTHEUSEOF THESE CEPHALIC Washington by letter, Gen. McKinstry was met at the cars by several officers who arrested and conveyed him to the arsenal, under instruction to hold no communica-

Further of the Victory at Piketon. CINCINNATI, November 14.—We are still without full particulars of Nelson's victory.

The following is all that is known: After occupying Frestonburg, Nelson proceeded toward Piketown, and commenced the engagement with the rebels at about 4 p. m, The engagement continued till night, and both armies slept on their arms. On the next morning the battle was renewed and continued till ten a. m. when the rebels unconditionally surrend ed. Their loss is four hundred killed and wounded, while the prisoners is variously estimated at from two to four thou sand. The route was complete, and it is probable the whole of Williams' forces will be taken in the mountain gorges. PARIS, Ky, November 14.—The follows ing letter has just been received by the Postmaster at this place, dated Mount Sterling, November 12, from Piketon:— Four hundred rebels were killed, and be-

Gen. Polk narrowly escaped, a portion of his clothes being torn off. The Savannah Republican says that the Fort Walker armament consisted of sixeen guns, nine of which bore upon the shipping, the balance being in position on the land side. Five or six of these guns, among them the twenty four pounder rife cannon and one ten inch columbiad, were disabled during the forenoon. Thus disabled, and their ammunition enhanted, the garrison evacuated Fort Walker between three and four o'clock, retiring in the direction of Blufton, leaving the gans in position of uncertainty and uncertainty and uncertainty and uncertainty. ion and unspiked, having no spikes for that purposs.
