THE SPECULATORS OF THE WAR.

From its commencement until now, it has been iterated and reiterated in our ears that "this is no partizan war." The National Congress—the heads of the National Administration, and the pao. lic press have declared that the contest in which we are now engaged is for the preservation of the Union-not to conquer or subjugate any portion of the States: only to compel them to return to their allegiance to the government. Accepting the war as a patriotic one, the people, ot all parties, in the North, have lent it their aid, and nobly sustained the Administration, into whose hands has fallen the duty of conducting it. The people, in all honesty, have been, and are, willing to devote themselves to the preservation of the Union. Witness an army greater than Napoleon founded an empire with in an hundred days; witness a popular loan without parallel in the history of nations.

But the past eight months have shown that the contest is to be a greater one than any man-even the wisest-could have foreseen. The recovery of a diseased and distracted nation is not to be accomplished at once. A people, educated for peace, does not become warlike at the stroke of a pen; a people loving politicisns" now hug the President and money does not altogether forget money his Cabinet, not for patriotism, but for making, even in a war of patriotism. In Buckingham's time, it was said,-

"Who rules the Kingdom? The King. Who rules the King? The Duke. Who rules the Duke? The Devil." The devil patriots. Their country's cause is in which is ruling us, and detracting from the high estate of those who hold our for her alone. high positions, is greed of gain.

The nation is pouring out its money those who direct the sword and control selves entirely of partizanship in their conduct of the details of this war.

The powers at Washington tell us that this enormous expenditure of money which is going on will benefit the nation, for it is expended at home, among our mation to the people of Nothumberland own people. True, but how is it expend. ed? Does the power which distributes patronage guide itself by patriotism only, or does the old leaven of partizanship direct the expenditure of the money of the people?

Is there not evidence that the money-making positions, - so many of which this war has created, - are distributed by partizan, rather than patriotic hands?

In all sincerity, and with all their might, the Democratic people of the North will support the Administration in this terrible crisis. But they see and feel the danger that at Washington the shrine of Patriotism may be turned into a temple of money-changers by politi cians and fanatics, and when avarice the worst of all the vices, wheedles, en joles and buys places it is not fit to fill they claim the right to raise the warning voice.
