Well, we see that this Western agitator has again been heard from; he took his seat in the Senate at the beginning of the present session, but until last Thursday he sat as modestly as a young lady at a christening. Then he was heard from by offering "a petition from citizens of Ohio asking that John C. Fremont be of Ohio asking that John C. Fremont be bertson, all distinguished themselves in the action. At the first fire, Lieut. Col. ing this modest petition, we do not see that Mr. Wade offered any observations in support of it; and in this we are some- Jackson also dismounted and went into what surprised. It is true that the pathfinder has sustained considerable damage of late, but the plucky Senator should not abandon him on that account Until this session no one was louder in the advocacy of the most absurd theories than this same Ben Wade, of Ohio. Has the change of public sentiment in his State, which elected a Union Gover-

If this be so it serves to show that the wildest of these agitators keep their eyes upon the main chance, and that in their phrenziest moments there is always "method in their madness."

Mason and Slide!l.

From a private letter written by one closely connected with the Administration at Washington to a gentleman in this city, we learn that little or no approhension is entertained of a difficulty with Great Britain. He says: "the feeling here is calm and confident on the Mason and Slidell affair. Great Britain will not be half so unreasonable as many suppose from the tone of her journals.

The Tribune throws this out for the benefit of omebody-the President probably : Whatever may be thought of the personal cha acter of Louis Napoleon, even his enemies must admit his superior sagacity. In his views of the English Bevolution contained in his "Historical Fregments," he states some things wel worthy o our careful cossideration at the present moment, as for iartance
