Pictures and Painting, We see glad to observe a growing dissition, on the part of our men of means and task, to encourage home artists in making their selections of pictures. This is as it should be, for we have among us several painters who have already mad themselves famous by their works. To the connoiseur, or the art lever, there could be no more acceptable Christmas present than one of these pictures. While visiting the well known establishment of J. J.

Gillespie, Wood street, on Satrday, we saw a number of attractive pictures, which we deem worth a passing notice: WALL has several pictures, landscapes ra resenting the rugged mountain gorges of Pennsylvania, together with a scene in the quiet, pastoral vale of the Monawk, in the State of New York, which will compare favorably with the best of his numerous works. HETZELL-A pair of "still-life;" pigeons and fish: both finished in the most elabor ate manner, faultless in drawing, and colored with a delicacy and truthfulness which renders the illusion complete. By keeping his backgrounds a little in check, it is doubtful if he would find many equals in this branch of his profession. CRAIG.-We saw several specimens of inis somewhat remarkable sixle of composition. One in particular, the Ganius of Liberty, by Divine approbation, plac-ing a sword in the hand of her natural otector, deserves notice, more on account. of the conception, perhaps, than the exce

FORRSTER -A group of children; portraits a little cold in tone, but lifelike and beautiful in finish. The great school of Dusseldorf will lose nothing of its high reputation by the exhibition of this picture. WoodwELL - Two or three landscapes; field and forest-exhibiting a progress which, if not checked, will very shortly place him among our very first landscape painters.

G. R. LAMBDEN, OF PHIL'A,—Groups interior, the other a of Children; one an interior, the other shady nook by the edge of a grain field: happy specimens of Mr. H's style, rich in color, mellow in tone and just the kind of pictures for some of our "crude-green"

LIEUT George Pierce, of the Iron City Guards, Capt. Shannon, Ninth regiment, arrived in this city yesterday afternoon.— He was in the fight at Dresnesville, but does not seem to have suffered from the balls of the enemy, nor yet from a severe attack of typhoid fever, from which he has recently recovered. He is in excellent health and spirits. Ho will remain in the city until the expiration of his furlough,

We dropped in at McClelland Weaver & Co's, Fifth street, on Saturday evening, where they were actually giving away toys in every variety, and were much edified by the comments of the many urchins there assembled. It would be worth the trouble for any observer of uman (or boy) nature to spend an hour at this toy auction to-night and watch the movements of the little fellows—and some of the larger ones.

First Class Concert. The musical people of Pittsburgh have it length the gratification of knowing that an entertainment worth the consideration of the critical portion of the community, will be presented next Thursday evening. We reproduce here an extract of the Cin. cinnati Enquirer article, which speaks very highly of the Crivelii Concert Troupe: MADAME ORIVELLI'S GRAND OPERATIO
