PITTSBURGH:

TUESDAY MORNING.....JAN. 21

CITY MATTERS.

BROKE JAIL.—The Kanawha Republican says: On Tuesday morning last, four prisoners escaped from our jail, namely, Andrew Tucker, charged with murder; a mulatto man John, charged with murder, has returned; also a mulatto man named Henry, charged with theft and arson; and a dark mulatto, Bill, confined for safe keeping, has returned and given himself up.

GEN. ROSECRANS' BODY GUARD.—Gen. Rosecrans' Body Guard, consisting of one hundred men, under command of Lieut. Kirtly, reached Wheeling on Thursday night from Gauley, on the steamer Ben. Franklin. The company is composed of a fine looking body of men, who seem to have seen service.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—A man named Michael Connell, employed on the Northern Central Railroad at Marysville, where the track crosses the Pennsylvania road, as a switch tender, was struck by one of the trains on the latter road, on Friday, and so injured that his life is despaired of.

FINED.—Three small boys, whose names we withhold, were arrested on Sunday, and taken before Mayor Drum, for congregating in the "old mill" on Mill alley, and acting in a disorderly manner. Their parents were fined seventy-five cents each, which they paid.

IT is estimated that the yield of the Venango oil wells is now about 75,000 barrels per month.

LIEUT. FRICKER, of the Eighth Pennsylvania Reserves is one of the signal officers in the Burnside expedition.

THE amount paid to jurors in our Courts last year was $11,865 24.

THE GOVERNOR has signed the bill for the relief of our Allegheny county volunteers and there need be no further delay in collecting the tax.

TO HORSE OWNERS.—DR. SWEET'S INFALLIBLE LINIMENT FOR HORSES is unrivalled by any, in all cases of Lameness, arising from Sprains, Bruises or Wrenching, its effect is magical and certain. Harness or Saddle Galls, Scratches, Mange, &c, it will also speedily cure Sparin and Ringbone; may easily be prevented and cured in their incipient stage, but continued cases are beyond the possibility of a radical cure. No case of the kind, however, is so desperate or hopeless but it may be alleviated by this Liniment, and its faithful application will always remove the Lameness, and enable the horse to travel with comparative ease.

Every horse owner should have this remedy at hand, for its timely use at the first appearance of Lameness will effectually prevent those formidable diseases mentioned, to which all horses are liable, and which render so many otherwise valuable horses near y worthless.

By Yesterday's Telegram.

Cheering News from Washington--A Forward Movement of our Army This Week.

PHILADELPHIA, January 20.—The New York correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger, this morning, says that an eminent Banker at Washington, on business with the Secretary of the Treasury, writes under date of yesterday, that an event will take place at Washington, next (this week,) which will wake up the country. As General McClellan's health is sufficiently recovered to enable him to mount the saddle again, you may guess what that event will be. The period of masterly inactivity on the line of the Potomac is at an end, and if all the signs do not terribly deceive, the rebel strong-hold at Manassas, and the rebel blockade of the Potomac by this day week, will be among the things that were. I give you this for what it is worth, and if it is worth as much as the writer's name is on blank paper, it has the highest sort of value. He has lately been in close communication with the Secretary of the Treasury, the President, and General McClellan, and we reasonably conclude, therefore, that he speaks by the card.

Latest from Fortress Monroe.

FORTRESS MONROE, January 19—Via Baltimore, Jan. 20.—A flag of truce went to Craney Island to-day with two persons who came down from Baltimore last night, to go South.

The following is all the news contained in the Southern papers that have been received:

Ex-President Tyler is very sick at Richmond.

Dispatches, dated Macon, Georgia, say that accounts from the wheat region are very favorable, and that the crops never appeared more promising than early.

The following Brigadier Generals have been confirmed: Henry Heth, Va., Johnson R. Duncan, Louisiana, and S. Wood, Ala.

Dates from Havana, to the 9th instant, have been received at New Orleans; the French fleet, consisting of a line-of-battle ships, three first class frigates, and three propellors, left for Vera Cruz on the 2d. It was reported at Havana that Vera Cruz was abandoned by the Mexicans on the arrival of the Spanish fleet.

The combined land forces are under command of General Prim.

The Confederate steamer Calhoun arrived at Havana on the 6th, making the number of 101 Confederate vessels that have arrived there since the blockade. Business was extremely dull on the Island.

The Norfolk Day Book gives a rumor that the Secretaries of the Federal Navy and Interior have resigned, and that Messrs. Colfax, of Indiana, and Holt, of Ky., will succeed them.

The papers contain nothing in relation to the Burnside expedition.

The U. S. steamer Sumter arrived here yesterday afternoon.

The troops on board of the steamer Constitution will come ashore to-morrow morning for exercise.

From Missouri.

ST. LOUIS, January 20.—John H. Henderson, Douglas Democrat, a member of the State Convention, and an uncompromising Union man, and Brigadier General in the State service, has been appointed by Lieutenant Governor Hall to fill Trusten Polk's seat in the United States Senate.

A passage was made through the ice, opposite the city, yesterday, and the ferry boats are now running. Two days more mild weather will probably break the gorge below and entirely clear the harbor of ice.

Arrival of the Arabia.

NEW YORK, January 20.—The steamer Arabia arrived at two o'clock this morning. Her advices were received via Cape Race.

NOTICE—Agreeably to the directions of an act of the General Assembly of this Commonwealth, approved the ninth day of April, A D. 1856, I hereby give notice that the Speakers the Senators and House of Representatives the said Commonwealth, will receive proposals until the fourth Tuesday of January, being the 28th day of January, 1862, for doing the Public Printing and Binding for the term of three years from the first day of July next, at a certain rate per centum below the rates specified in the act relating to the Public Printing and Binding, approved the ninth day of April, A. D. 1856, and according to the mode and manner and conditions therein specified.

Said proposals to specify the rate per centum on the whole of the rates of said act taken together, and not a specification of the rate per centum below the rates on each item. The following is the form of proposals for State Printing and Binding:

"I ——— propose to do all the State Printing and Binding in the manner, and in respects subject to the provisions of the act of the 9th of April, A. D. 1856, for the period of three years from the first day of July next, at the rate of ——— per centum, below the rates specified in said act, and should the State Printing and Binding aforesaid be allotted to me, I will be ready forthwith to give bond with sufficient sureties, for the faithful performance of the work so allotted," which the said proposals shall be sealed and endorsed, "Proposals for Public Printing and Binding;" and shall be directed to the said Speakers, and be delivered to one or both of them to be opened, announced and allotted, on the 28th day of January, inst., agreeably to the provisions of the act of 9th of April, 1856.

SELECT TALE.

B. UMBER, ARTIST.

BY MRTA VICTORIA VICTOR.

I didn't know what to do about pantaloons, and told Gamboge so, when he came in I was sitting up in bed mending my only pair. There was a frightful hole upon each knee; but long practice in patching had made me as dexterous as a woman, and I was getting the new pieces on so nicely that I flattered myself they would hardly be detected—at least, at the first glance. They would do very well for street wear, especially if I only went out in the evening, but to call upon a lady! and that, too, in the daylight! I appealed to Gamboge, the only friend I had, and to whom I appealed on all occasions.

"Bother the pantaloons!" he exclaimed, a little impatiently, for he had thought the impendiments all removed.

"It is the pantaloons that bother me," I said, dejectedly.

"Can't you manage to make them do? it won't be very light. These fashionable women are more cunning even than we artists in the matter of light and shade. They know better than to put themselves in cross-lights, or in the candid shine of the mid day sun.—You'll find the parlors of a delicious darkness, very flattering to your wardrobe, my friend. That 's a capital patch, old boy."

"I'm glad you admire it. But Miss Follett might not."

"I'd lend you a pair of mine, if you were not such a monster. It 's a pity, either that you are big, or that I am little, I don't know which. I've got two pairs, now; so I could afford to be liberal. Before my success at the Academy last year, I was nearly as bad off as you. But I couldn't mend like that!" He looked appreciating at my patches.

"Really great minds are great in all things," I remarked, with my usual modesty. "But probably Miss Follett, being a million-heiress, knows too little of old clothes to do me the justice you have done me. She has taste, though, plenty of it. She knows a picture when she sees it, which is unusual for one of her sort. Isn't it curious, now, the fancy she has taken to that little bit of mine?"

I had managed to get a picture in at the Annual Exhibition, and for the first time, and through the influence of Gamboge. It was a small thing, and obscurely hung; but it had attracted the attention of a young lady, an amateur and an heiress. Her acquaintance was somewhat affected by artiste; Gamboge had the honor of it; and when he heard her praise the unknown painter, he, by a master stroke of policy, proved his friendship for me, and obtained an invitation for me to accompany him to the morning reunions of the lady. She had also signified her intention of purchasing the picture, provided it was for sale. Of course it was for sale.—The young man who sat patching his last pair of pantaloons felt only too happy at the thought. He would have been even better pleased, had it already been paid for, for then he might have gone to the tailor's at once, instead of sitting up under the bed-clothes, and worrying himself about trifles.

"She has appointed to-morrow? I want to go so badly. And here I must lose the opportunity. What shall I do Gamboge?"

"With the pantaloons?—darn the pantaloons?"

"I have, six or seven times."

"You'll be foolish if you let everything stand in the way of your going now, I tell you, sir. There's not only her patronage—perhaps her friendship—but the consideration it will give you, and the circle you'll step into, and the choice things you will see in her house—not only pictures and marbles, but articles of vertu, everything to gratify a taste like yours. And then there's herself! she is worth breaking your neck but to speak to."

"Oh, I would willingly break my neck for the honor of bowing before Miss Follett. But to go there with patches on my knees, that would require more courage, you see. Not but that I could bear a sneer from her; a sneer on the lips of a beautiful woman sometimes fires a man to proud achievements; but to see all those rows of sanguine mustaches curling at me—kumph! I should get angry."

"Perhaps you can wear mine; you're only four inches taller than I, and a trifle heavier, of course. The fact is, I would lend you money to buy you a pair but I haven't got it. My landlady was after me this morning, paid a visit to my rooms, caught me when I hadn't a chance to retreat, and I gave her all I had. I didn't count it; she'll make it all right."

"What a simpleton you are, Gamboge I don't wonder you are always in trouble with fifteen hundred dollars' worth of commissions in a year. Do you know how much I have spent in the last twelve months? Just a hundred and twenty dollars."

"Oh, I lived upon seventy-five one year, so you needn't boast. That was the year I wrote my letters to my mother lying upon my stomach on the floor for want of table or chair. You paid the postage on those letters. You were better off than I then."

"And now—but I don't envy you Gamboge. You deserve more than you have received."

"I am aware of it, old boy. Your luck will begin to come soon. You'll get the start of me in the race yet; you're so lucky you know!"

I had finished mending my pantaloons, and had put them on, when my companion made this remark. The idea of my being lucky was so outrageously impudent that it threw me into a fit of laughter. There never before existed a young man so strong, healthy and handsome as myself, who had such a facility for getting into all kinds of predicaments.

"Don't laugh so, don't for goodness' sake!" exclaimed Gamboge, as I rolled upon the bed in unrestrictive merriment.

His tone of distress quieted me.

"Don't you see what you've done?" he asked reproachfully. "Look at your coat!"—more sternly—"Look at it behind."

I tried to obey him, but the situation of the eyes in my face prevented me seeing my back, and I had no mirror. But I felt the mischief. My coat was tender from long wear, and fitted me closely, from the fact that I had grown in weight and stature (upon bread and cheese) since first I had put it on, and in my fit of untimely mirth I had split it from collar to tail.

"Now, then, you're ready for Miss Follett's reunion, I suppose!"

This cutting irony was very hard to bear at that moment, but I resisted the inclination to strike my only friend, and answered desperately: "I couldn't help laughing, could I? If I didn't I didn't retain my proclivities for laughing, I'd like to know what would become of me."

"That is true," responded Gamboge, looking at me reflectively. "It is not every one who could be so merry as you on such low diet, nor look so high-colored and bright, either. By the way I wonder that fellow doesn't come up. I knew you'd be just getting out of bed, and I ordered the saloon-keeper down below to send up our breakfast; I have'nt had mine yet. Coffee and beefsteak, etc."

THE FOLLOWING ARE VOLUNTARY statements from persons of respectability and truth, in this vicinity, who have been greatly benefitted by his remedies; some of whom would evidently have been in their graves ere now, if it is their medicines:

Case of Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia of Ten Years Standing.

I have been suffering for ten years past from Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia. I heard of Dr. Schenck's coming out to Martin Koch's, and I thought I would go and see him, as my disease had increased in violence within the past two years, and I had been under treatment of several doctors, from whom I received no benefit. In the early part of June of this year I went to see Dr. Schenck, and was examined by him with his "RESPIROMETER." I have been taking his Pulmonic Syrup, Sea Weed Tonic and Mandrake Pills since then, and I must say that I am greatly benefited by their use; indeed, I might almost say that I am well.

ANNA M. SMITH.

I have been much benefitted by the use of Dr. Schenck's medicines.

RUFUS PARKER.

Case of Mrs. McConnell.

I had been affected with Disease of the Lungs for near or five years, when I heard of Dr. Schenck coming to Martin Koch's. Previous to this time I had given up all hope of ever getting well, but Mr. Koch, whom I knew to have been cured by Dr. Schenck, urged my husband until he prevailed upon me to go and see the Doctor, who found both my lungs affected, the bronchial tubes were both diseased; when I breathed, they would rattle so that it could be heard distinctly.—I have now taken his medicines for some time, and find myself wonderfully improved, although not entirely recovered; I now find myself able to attend to most of my household duties, and have no doubt of my ultimate recovery. From the benefit I have received from Dr. Schenck's treatment, I would advise all persons similarly affected to apply to him when he makes his next visit.

JANE McCONNELL.

Certificate of Jane Grist.

I have been troubled for about two years with a pain in my breast. Late in the Spring of this year I heard of Dr. Schenck coming out to Martin Koch's, and I determined to call and see him, and get examined with his Respirometer. I did so, and he took for three of his medicines, according to directions, and I have been greatly benefitted. I hope, from the benefit already experienced, that it will not be long until I am entirely well.

JANE GRIST.

Poland Township, Mahoning Co., Ohio.
Oct. 31, 1861.

Cure of Mrs. Warner.

For about five years I had been affected with pain in the right side of my breast, and in hopes of getting relief, I had taken many different kinds of medicines, but found no benefit from them whatever, I then heard of Dr. Schenck, and the great cures he was performing with his treatment, and consulted him. He said to his Agent in Pittsburgh, Dr. Keyser, for some of his (Dr. Schenck's) medicines. Previous to taking it, I was so prostrated as to be unable to undress myself, or rise up to lay in bed; I was obliged to sit up in a chair in order to obtain any rest at all. After having taken Dr. Schenck's medicines, I heard that the Doctor was coming to Martin Koch's, and I determined to see him. I was already so much improved by the use of his medicines, as to be able to go over to Mr. Koch's, which is a distance of a mile from my house. The Doctor pronounced my disease to be Bronchial Consumption and Liver Complaint. I would moreover add, that I coughed almost continually, and spit up large quantities of matter daily. I took the Pulmonic Syrup, Sea Weed Tonic and Mandrake Pills, according to the Doctor's directions, and am happy to say that I am nearly well. ANNA WARNER.
