CITY MATTERS.

THE RAILROAD ACCIDENT AT RODEBAUGH'S.—As the published accounts of the accident at Rodebaugh's last Friday evening, were incorrect, we give the following version from the Greensburg Democrat: "The deceased, Mary McLean, 17 years of age, with two other girls named Rodebaugh, were on their way to a singing at Ludwick, and when a short distance this side of the Tunnel, they heard the approach of the express train bound East and a freight train bound West. One of the Rodebaugh girls called the attention of the others to the fact that a train was approaching them from each direction and remarked that they had better leave the road. Deceased replied that the freight train would pass them before the express came up, and that they could then get on the other track in time to avoid the express; but just as the freight was passing them at the short curve on this side of the Tunnel, the express came thundering down upon them, and escape for Mary McLean, who was then walking on the North rail of the South track, was impossible, and the result was that she was mangled and cut up in a most horrible manner. The Rodebaugh girls escaped by throwing themselves from the road."

A REBEL SHELL.—Our attentive correspondent, R. C. H., Hospital Steward in the First Regiment of Sickles' Excelsior Brigade, writes from camp Farnum, on the lower Potomac, under date of February 3d, and sends us part of a shell, weighing about 14 pounds. The shell was fired from the Freeborne Point Battery, on the afternoon of the 2d inst, at one of our steamers passing up the Potomac. It passed a few feet above the smoke stack and exploded on the bank, about forty feet from where our correspondent stood, in a picket pit. He picked it up while yet hot and vouches for its genuineness. The odor of burnt powder is yet discernible. He says he could send an unexploded shell if he had the facilities, but thinks the specimen forwarded will illustrate what is an every day occurrence with our troops on the Potomac. The curious can see the memento at our office.

ARREST OF AN ESCAPED PRISONER.—Our readers will recollect that some time in the month of June, 1860, a man named Sam'l Welch committed an outrage upon the person of a respectable married woman in Cambria county. He was arrested on the charge, but succeeded in making his escape from the county jail, in which he was confined, the month following. A reward was offered at the time for his arrest, but nothing was heard of him until recently, when officer Dougherty of this city learned that he was residing, with his wife and family, in Westmoreland county, about five miles from New Salem. He proceeded to his house, arrested him on Tuesday morning last, and lodged him safely in the Ebensburg (Cambria co) jail, to await his trial at the next session of Court.

HEAVY OIL SHIPMENT.—The Oil City Register sums up its weekly report as follows: "Since our last report quite a large fleet of steamers have been up from Pittsburgh. On Friday last twelve steamboats and tow boats, were lying at the wharf of our city. The amount of oil shipped was not very great, as shippers were not disposed to pay over fifty cents per barrel to Pittsburgh. The boats could all have been loaded at this price. Between 8,000 and 10,000 barrels have been shipped, so far as we can learn. There may be other lots shipped that we have not heard of, that will swell this amount still larger. Notwithstanding the low prices now ruling in Pittsburgh, the business at this point is brisk. Not less than one thousand teams are hauling off from the creek to this point, and a considerable amount is being shipped."

THE FLOWER OF THE PRAIRIE.—This is the title of a new fifty cent novel, just issued by the Petersons, Philadelphia, written by Gustave Aimard, who has given us some capital fictions within a few years. He is a great ravaler, was a captive among the Indians, and therefore well qualified to interest by his descriptions of their life and customs. The present, as well as his other novels, is an Indian tale, but totally different from any of its predecessors and equally interesting. It will doubtless find many readers. Henry Miner, Lyon's building, has it for sale.

We are also indebted to John P. Hunt, Masonic Hall, for a copy of the work. In addition to the latest periodical literature of the day Mr. Hunt keeps a full supply of stationery, books, &c.

GEN. LANDER.—A Washington dispatch to the World, dated the 10th, says: "It is also rumored that important news may soon be expected from Gen. Lander's division. He has taken Romney, but evidently has no intention of staying there. It is believed his force is now in the neighborhood of Winchester. This may mean a flank movement on Manassas, but the prevalent impression is that it simply relates to the opening of the Baltimore and Ohio road. A large body of our troops are to be thrown across the upper Potomac to participate in this movement, and, once across, it is very doubtful whether they will have occasion to return. In the high country of the upper Potomac I learn that dry winds have prevailed, and that the ground is now in a position to bear heavy artillery."

OIL WELL EXPLOSION.—On Tuesday a fearful explosion of gas took place at Miller & Co's oil well, at Glasgow. The gas took fire and the derrick, shanty, and everything combustible in the vicinity was burned. The flame shot up to a height of over one hundred feet. Robert Barr, who was working the rod when the gas was struck, (at a depth of 480 feet) was thrown from his seat over the bull wheel, severely injuring his face and head. The well is but forty yards from the Marshall well, in which a fine vein of oil and gas was struck last week at the same depth.

SOLDIER DEAD.—Noah Piper, of Capt. McCurdy's company, Colonel Coulter's regiment, and Abrahsm Butler, of Company I, same regiment, died recently, at Annapolis, Md. Both were from the vicinity of Greensburg. Piper survived the attack of his disease, spotted fever, but twelve hours. His remains were taken home to Ligonier Valley on last Friday and interred. He was about 19 years old, and was a brother of Lieut. Henry Piper, of the same company.

THE NATIONAL FOUNDRY.—Senator Wilson's bill will provide for the establishment of a national foundry on the Hudson River, not far south of West Point, and of a manufactory of iron suitable for cannon in Pennsylvania, probably at Bloomfield. The iron made at Bloomfield, where there are now extensive works; is of the best quality and, in combination with our iron, would make very superior cannon.

DROWNED.—On the 1st inst. an old man named William Duffy fell from the towpath into the slack water of the Conemaugh river, near Bairdstown, Westmoreland county, and was drowned, although his wife, who accompanied him, made every effort to save him, her cries for assistance being unheard. Deceased was about 65 years old and had been an inmate of the Westmoreland county Poor House.

DEATH OF A CAPTAIN.—Captain John Dysert, of Company I, Col. Hambright's regiment, now at Munfordsville, Ky., died on the 6th at Louisville, having been taken suddenly ill.

MAYOR'S OFFICE.—No business of importance was transacted by Mayor Sawyer yesterday. The only matter of moment was a case where the prosecutor charged defendant with false pretences in procuring a pawn ticket for his watch, at Cinciottis, and the money to "get it out," which he did, but would not give it up. The man was arrested and the affair was finally settled, the prosecutor consenting to take a pawn ticket for a little watch, belonging to the prosecutor, which he had in pawn, paying the defendant $1 50 difference and the costs in the case.

THE OLD TOWER OF CHARLESWOOD.—This fine play will be presented for the last time this evening. Miss Thompson's double personation of the two sisters, Elsh and Zaidis, should be seen by all, while as a sensative drama the piece is superior. We hope to see the lady well patronized this evening.

DEATH OF COL. J. P. ANDERSON.—Col. J. P. Anderson, a much esteemed citizen of Huntingdon, died on Monday afternoon, at 3 o'clock. Col. Anderson was formerly Assistant Secretary of the Canal Board, and was afterwards one of the largest and most successful contractors on the Pennsylvania Railroad. He was a gentleman of large means and influence.

Last Night's News up to Two O'clock.

Thirty-Seventh Congress.

WASHINGTON, Feb 12.—HOUSE.—The House acted on the Senate's amendments to the civil and miscellaneous appropriation.

The Committee on Ways and Means had recommended disagreements to the Senate's amendment appropriating $68,000 for painting and papering the White House.

A debate occurred on the question, during which it was said that this amount exceeded the sum heretofore appropriated for refitting, &c.

Mr. Kellogg, of Ill., said the discussion was in the character of a mutual admiration of society to day. The Secretary of the Treasury had been both soundly abused and beautifully admired. Gentlemen had been anxious to sound his praise and become competitors for the championship of his fame, and yet others voted to stab him by their votes in refusing to provide for settling the accounts for the Treasury notes already printed. Some seem to be anxious to be leaders of the Administration and champions of the President's fame, and yet they cause scurrilous paragraphs to be read, and then vote to stab the President. God grant that he (Mr. Kellogg) might never have such feuds.

The Senate's amendment was then agreed to, all the other amendments were acted upon.

At this point the Sergeant-at-Arms appeared, having in custody Henry Wykoff, whom the House to-day ordered to be arrested for contempt. The prisoner was brought before the bar of the House at the instance of Mr. Hickman. The Speaker then informed Mr. Wykoff that he had been arrested by order of the House, charged with contempt of its authority in refusing to answer a question propounded by the Judiciary Committee, and asked him what he had to say.

Mr. Wykoff replied that he hoped not to be considered wanting in respect either to the House or to the Committee, but the information which the Committee demanded was received by him under an obligation of secrecy, which he felt bound to respect.

Mr. Stevens, of Pa., suggested that the answer be reduced to writing.

Mr. Richardson, of Ill., remarked, "and also the interrogatory."

Mr. Cox, of Ohio, moved postponement of the case in order that the prisoner might have an opportunity until to-morrow to reflect.

Mr. Hickman said the witness had declined to answer the interrogatory propounded on the ground that certain information was communicated to him under a pledge of secrecy. There could scarcely be any necessity for the House to delay action for a day in order to enable the person in contempt to put his answer in writing, therefore he was opposed to his colleague's (Mr. Stevens) motion because there was no necessity for it. This was an extraordinary case. The witness testified that he had information of the contents, or a portion of the contents of the President's annual message prior to its delivery to Congress, and caused it to be communicated through the telegraph to the New York Herald, but when he was asked by the Committee on the Judiciary, who were appointed to inquire into the censorship of the press, how he obtained this information, declined to answer by saying he received it under the pledge of secrecy. The Committee believe no witness has a right to withhold so important a fact under such a pledge.

The answer to the question propounded by the Speaker to Mr. Wykoff, as furnished from the reporters notes, was read to him, which he pronounced correct.

Mr. Hickman, of Pa., offered the following:

Whereas, Henry Wykoff, a witness subpœned to appear and testify before the Committee on the Judiciary in the matter of the investigation by said Committee into the telegraphic censorship of the press and refusing to answer certain questions propounded to him in his examination upon being brought before the bar of the House has failed to satisfy the House of the propriety of his refusal. Therefore be it

Resolved, That the said Henry Wykoff by reason of the premises is in contempt of the House and that the Sergeant at Arms be directed to hold the said Henry Wykoff in close custody until he shall purge himself of said contempt, or until discharged by order of the House.

Mr. Diven, of N. Y., as a member of the Judiciary Committee, wished to say a few words, but Mr Hickman declined to withdraw his demand for the previous question under the operation of which the resolution was adopted—yeas, 82, nays not counted. Mr. Wykoff was soon thereafter conducted from the Hall by the Sergeant at Arms.

The House then adjourned.

SENATE.—Mr. Wilson, of Mass., introduced a bill for the establishment of a National Foundry and Furnace; also a bill for the appointment of a Warden at the Jail in the District of Columbia. He said he wished to make a brief statement.—Some days ago the Secretary of State addressed an order, the object of which, was to clear the Jail of persons held their under the charge of being fugitive slaves—That order was read at that Jail, of course, with the disposition to evade it, because it is well known that the Jail is under the control of the Deputy Marshal of the District and under the superintendency of a negro thief named Wise.

To evade this order of the Secretary, a person in jail owned by a man named Chapman, of Charles county, Maryland, who is a secessionist, was taken out and before a Justice to be formally committed The person was put in the jail by this Wise who visits the regiments and other places to steal all negroes that he can. A week ago he stole a negro from the Rhode Island regiment who he got away, but this person believed that he was to be sent back to his master, so he cut up his blanket and let himself down from the jail near fifty feet, but fell and was taken by the guard. A loaded revolver was placed at his breast, and he told them to shoot, that he had rather die than to go back to his master. He was put in a dungeon; there his hands were tied over a barrel to be "hogged," as they call it, and yesterday morning at five o'clock he was taken to the slave pen at Baltimore. He wanted it understood by the country and the people that the crimes against humanity are committed by this negro thief; that these men who control that jail by our votes, and we are responsible before the nation and before God. He wanted to wash his hands and denounce these crimes and take this jail from the care of Marshal Lamon and his negro catching creatures, and put it in the hands of a Warden.

The Treasury note bill was then taken up.

Mr. Fessenden referred to the speech of Mr. Sherman where he said that not only was the army delayed but that Congress also wasted time. He contended that Congress was not at all to blame. It had not wasted time. The Senate could not consider this important bill until it had come from the House. The House Committee of Ways and Means had done as well if not better than any Committee. The Secretary of the Treasury had proposed very important measures in relation to Treasury notes, taxation and banks; these were very important measures and had to be considered carefully, they had received a thorough and long attention of the other House and he thought the time well spent. The measure of forcing on the country millions of irredeemable paper was something never done before and it required much attention. It was admitted by all it was with great reluctance that such a measure was adopted.

He explained the features of the House bill and the amendments of the Finance Committee. The Committee had deemed it necessary that the government should pay the interest in coin as calculated to sustain the credit of the government and to give confidence to creditors. The Committee thought that if the legal tender clause was to be adopted, the country should know that such was not to be a permanent policy.

Mr. Collamer, of Vt., opposed the legal tender clause in a long argument, showing that it was unconstitutional and would destroy all credit public or private. It is practical deception of the people in which he was not willing to participate. He did not believe in any necessity for this measure.

Mr. Sherman offered amendment to the amendment of the Committee that the notes authorized in July, also, be received in payment of public dues, &c.—Adopted.

The Committee's amendment in regard to the payment of interest in coin was adopted; also, the amendment striking out the provision that the notes be exchanged for bonds bearing seven and three-tenths per cent. Adopted.

Mr. Howe spoke at some length in favor of the bill. He contended that we must have money to carry on the government and could not raise sufficient amount by taxations in time sufficient to effect the object, consequently the government must issue something. This will, for a time, take the place of currency and coin. The government owes large amounts and must pay some way, either in coin or something else, and better pay in notes than not pay at all. He denied that any other government had tried such an experiment as this. He declared that the country was dying for want of currency and currency needs inflation. He declared that England preserved her credit for a long time on paper currency. He urged the necessity of this currency because the country needs it and because it is a safe medium.

Mr Fessenden moved an amendment to the amendment in regard to deposits, that they be withdrawn after only ten days notice. Adopted.

Mr Sherman objected to the amendment providing for deposit and exchange of notes into bonds.

Mr. King thought it would be giving banks too much advantage and moved to reduce the per centage to one per cent.

Rejected.

The amendment providing for deposit at five per cent was rejected.

Return of the Gunboats from Florence-Great Enthusiasm in Northern Alabama- Alabamians Enlisting Under the Stars and Stripes.

ST LOUIS, February 12.—Specials to the Republican, dated Fort Henry, February 11th, says: The gunboats Conestogo, Tyler and Lexington, returned from the upper Tennessee last night. The trip went as far as Florence, Alabama, and were received with the wildest joy by people along the river. Old men cried like children, at sight of the Stars and Stripes and invited the officers and men to their houses and told them that all they had was at their disposal.—A large number were anxious to enlist under the old flag, and the Tyler brought down two hundred and fifty to fill up the gunboats crews. Our officers were assured if they would wait a few days, whole regiments could be raised, and if the Government would give them arms to defend themselves, they could bring Tennessee back to the Union in a few months. They said when the secession ordinance was passed, armed men stood at the polls, and everything went as certain politicians said. At Savannah, Eastport, and Florence, the officers and men of our boats went ashore without arms, and mingled freely with the people. The Union men along the river comprise the wealthiest and best portion of the inhabitants, large numbers of whom have American flags.—Not a gun was fired either going or coming. The rebel gunboats Eastport, Sallie Ward, and Muscle, only partially finished, were captured, and are here. The Eastport had two hundred and fifty thousand feet of lumber on board, and the Sallie Ward a quantity of iron plating. The steamers Sam Kirkman, Linn Boyd, Julia Smith, Sam Orr and Appleton Belle were burned by the rebels to prevent their falling into our hands. The railroad bridge at Florence was not destroyed.

A quantity of papers were captured on the Eastport, belonging to Lieut. Brown, late of the Federal navy, stating that submarine batteries could not be successfully used in the rapid streams of the West. One hundred and fifty hogsheads of tobacco and a quantity of other freight will be brought down to-morrow.

A daily line of packets has been established between Fort Henry and Cairo.

Nothing during the war has been so prostrating to the rebels as the late victory of the gun boat expedition mentioned above.

From Missouri.

ST. LOUIS, February 12.—The Republican learns that General Hitchcock has accepted an appointment of Major General of Volunteers, should General Halleck take the field in command of the Southern expedition, which is regarded probable. General Hitchcock will remain at the head of the department here.

Official dispatches from Lieut. Phelps commanding the gunboat Conestogo, received at headquarters here, confirm the previous reports of the result of the Tennessee river expedition. The steamers burned by the rebels were laden with military stores, 200 stands of arms. A considerable quantity of clothing and stores was captured and the encampment of Colonel Crews at Savannah destroyed. Lieutenant Phelps also reports finding the Union sentiment very strong along the river.

A Cairo special to the Democrat says that passengers by the Evansville packet, report passing at Paducah, this morning, eleven transports laden with troops, the 46th, 31st and 4th Illinois battalion; the 29th Illinois and a company of the 8th Wisconsin, left here this afternoon.

Signal fire balloons, apparently sent up from Mayfield by the rebels, have been seen from here for the past three nights.

Advices from Fort Henry say that much reliance is placed on the 20-pounder rifled Parrott guns of the 1st Missouri Artillery, three batteries of which are there under Major Cavender. Four more regiments reached there last night.

Our reconnoitering parties went within one mile of Fort Donelson yesterday and a squadron of our cavalry barely escaped capture by 900 rebel cavalry, supported by infantry.

Hunter's Expedition.

LEAVENWORTH, Feb. 11.—The greatest activity prevails at Fort Leavenworth in preparations for the expedition to start from here under Gen. Hunter.

Troops and supplies are being concentrated in the Southern portion of the State and indications appear favorable for an early advance. The General himself is working earnestly and unceasingly in perfecting details of the expedition, and every department is pushed to its utmost capacity.

Seven regiments of cavalry, four regiments of infantry and three full batteries of artillery with Parrott and Ward guns, are now en route from the East and are daily expected to join the expedition which will be one of the most formidable yet organized during the war

Later by the Teutonia.

CAPE RACE, February 12.—The Times' city article of January 31st, says:

Consols continued dull at 92¾@92¾ for money and 92⅞@93 for March 6. Numerous transportations took place in the discount market at 2 per cent. On the Stock Exchange the rate of advances was 1@2 per cent. French Rentes declined ¼ Quoted at 71f 10c. American Securities were dull.

The statement of Secretary Seward, implying that the American government held themselves bound, after subjugating the rebels to restore the destroyed harbors, or open better ones, added considerable to Federal bondholders since it makes a further indefinite addition to the prospects of the ultimate amount of debt. It is believed that even if the war was wound up immediately the debt of America would, at the rate of interest that must be paid, involve an annual charge on the revenue equal to more than half the total required for the national debt of England.
