HARRISBURG CORRESPONDENCE.
Saturday, March 9.
The Legislature adjourned yesterday to meet Monday at 10 o'clock. The day of such a delay is not unusual in this season, but it is a sign of the deficiency in other matters which may be interesting to your readers. General Taylor, president of the Convention, signed the resolutions for the day, and the bill for the relief of the late General Taylor was passed. The Battle of James River.
Full Particulars of the Action.
GUNBOAT OREGON BLOWN UP.
TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTY KILLED OR WOUNDED.
SUCCESS OF THE MONITOR.

FOR THE MONITOR, March 9th.
The long expected rebel attack on the Monitor was at last made her appearance, and yesterday afternoon, with the assistance of two gunboats which came out with her from Norfolk, and the Jamestown and Yorktown, which came down from the James river, made an attack upon Newport News and the naval vessels stationed there. The Monitor was first seen about a quarter of 10 o'clock. The rebel gunboats followed her. At her bows, on the water line, were two sharp iron points resembling pincers, about six or seven feet apart. Her name or guns it stated at a distance, but she might not have had any. At her bows two guns were seen projecting from her clipical ports. The design of the Monitor did not become apparent until between two and two o'clock, and by that time the Monitor had got under way for the scene of action. The first shot was fired from the frigate Cumberland at 2 o'clock. The Monitor fired at 2 o'clock. The Monitor fired at 2 o'clock. The Monitor fired at 2 o'clock. The Monitor fired at 2 o'clock.
