Rold Robbery.

On Tuesday night some bold thief or thieves perpetrated a daring robbery at the tavern of John Duffy, corner of Grant and Webster streets. They entered by removing the lock from the cellar door and helped themselves to some bottles and a demijohn of fine liquors. They also took from the bar room one of two trunks, belonging to a young man boarding at the house, who is now absent, carried it out, broke it open in the street near by and rifled it of its contents, and carried off the other. The contents, and carried off the other. The contents of the trunks are not known, owing to the absence of the owner.
