

Advertisement for W.S. Haven, furniture and chairs, located at Wood & Third Sts. Text describes various styles of furniture and chairs available.

DAILY NEWS
TUESDAY MORNING, MAY 21.
The death of Gen. James Keenan is announced. He died at 10 o'clock last night at his residence, 45 West 84th street. He was 67 years of age and had served in the Mexican war and the Civil war. He was a member of the Grand Army of the Republic and the United States Cavalry. He was buried in the Mount Hope cemetery at 10 o'clock this morning.

CITY AND NEIGHBORHOOD INTELLIGENCE
Regular Meeting of Council. City Council held their regular meeting last evening. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. A petition for water pipes along Kirkpatrick to Duncan street, was referred to the Water Committee, with instructions to report on the same and probable revenue. C. C. concurred.

Gen. Keenan's Death. The death of Gen. James Keenan is announced. He died at 10 o'clock last night at his residence, 45 West 84th street. He was 67 years of age and had served in the Mexican war and the Civil war. He was a member of the Grand Army of the Republic and the United States Cavalry. He was buried in the Mount Hope cemetery at 10 o'clock this morning.

Keenan's Death (Continued). Gen. Keenan was in the thirty-ninth year of his age. He was a native of Westmoreland County, and a man of ability and great force of character. He filled with credit various important public positions. He served with distinction in the Mexican war as Lieutenant in the 15th New York Regiment. The expenses of this service probably induced the disease which finally terminated his existence. At the close of the war he was elected Register and Receiver of Westmoreland County, and afterwards re-elected for a second term. Under the administration of Gov. Bigler he held the office of Adjutant General of Pennsylvania. The position he occupied on his appointment by President Pierce to the Consulate of Hong Kong, in 1852. He has been abroad ever since, with the exception of a short tour in New York about three years ago. After his return to China, he suffered at times very much from rheumatism, which he finally contracted with which he had been afflicted since he was in the army, and though he was naturally a powerful physical organization, these ailments, aggravated by the climate, were his physical ruin, and for a year past his health was very bad. He left for home, and landed in New York, on the 14th inst. in a state of utter exhaustion, and survived but six days longer. His remains were taken to the city, and interred there last Sunday last, being attended to their last resting place by a large concourse of people. He leaves a widow and two children.

Keenan's Death (Continued). Gen. Keenan was a very active and influential citizen, and had a great many personal friends. He was of an ardent temperament, zealous in sustaining those whose cause he espoused, and possessed in a strong degree the faculty of attaching men to his opinions. He was a member of the British Colonial Society, and the British Colonial Association, and was the author of many pamphlets and articles in the New York Herald, and other papers, in relation to the Hong Kong district. He was a devoted and patriotic citizen, and was very popular with his countrymen. He was a member of the Grand Army of the Republic, and was a member of the United States Cavalry. He was a member of the Grand Army of the Republic, and was a member of the United States Cavalry.

Keenan's Death (Continued). Gen. Keenan was a very active and influential citizen, and had a great many personal friends. He was of an ardent temperament, zealous in sustaining those whose cause he espoused, and possessed in a strong degree the faculty of attaching men to his opinions. He was a member of the British Colonial Society, and the British Colonial Association, and was the author of many pamphlets and articles in the New York Herald, and other papers, in relation to the Hong Kong district. He was a devoted and patriotic citizen, and was very popular with his countrymen. He was a member of the Grand Army of the Republic, and was a member of the United States Cavalry.

Advertisements for various businesses including clothing stores, furniture stores, and professional services. Includes ads for 'The Boston Store', 'The Grand Central', and 'The City Store'.