FROM NORTH CAROLINA. Newbern, N. C., June 3d, 1862. The Arrival of Union Prisoners Gov. Stanley---Gen. Burnside, sketch:

otherwise evinced a deep interest in their condition.

The prisoners give it as their belief that they were released by the North Carolina State authorities, which confirms what I wrote you in a previous letter—viz: that Morth Carolina had taken a stand in this personal intercourse.—Though his means were far from ample, his expenditure, while never excessive government. They also represent the Union sentiment as very strong in the northwestern part of the State, where one of the citizens stated that if the Union men had a chance, and could get arms, they would rise of masse against the rebels and drive them outside its borders. Even among the armed guards who were in charge of the prisoners there are many Union men, who say that they have either been drafted or have obtain sustenance for themselves and families.

It is one quite common catertainment down the coverlet, and showed me a leg apparently shattered at the knee, either by a pistol or musket ball. "Well, is: "Well an anxious voice. "Well is: "Well an anxious voice. "Well is: "You will take it off, then." If have not my implements with me." If have not my implements with me." Have not my implements with me." Have not my implements with me. Have been sought and found in contributing to the amusement and happiness of others. He was a complete was a complete and beautiful set was a complete and beautiful set was a complete and beautiful set was produced.

It is one quite common catertainment during the summer, at the springs and contains sustenance for themselves and families.

It is one quite common catertainment during the summer, at the springs and exception of the writer of the writer of the summer, at the springs and exception of the writer of the summer, at the springs and exception of the writer of the summer, at the springs and exception of the writer of the summer, at the springs and the conformation of the writer of the summer of the writer of the writer of the wri

From Raleigh the prisoners were taken to Tarboro, and thence came down the river on flatboats in tow of a steamer.

When they came in sight of Washington and saw our colors displayed there they could not restrain their delight, and burst out with the "Red. White and Blue."

When cast loose from the steamer they made in prison, and which they had so far aconcealed, and greeted it with enthusiastic cheers, to which a lusty response was given by our troops on shore. They were then taken on board the steamer Pilot Bay, Capt. Wilson, and conveyed to the Guide.

The vigorous policy of Governor Stanley.

Will he survive?"

Will he survive?"

With careful attention and nursing, I these exhibitions Turner was always among the most distinguished for tearless, grace full and splendid exploits in riding. Here, no doubt, was some of the schooling of which he has since shown so much.

In person he was rather below than above medium stature, but with one of the best knit frames one meets among a thousand. He could not have been much more than thirty years of age, certainly least than thirty years of age, certainly least than thirty five. His complex black beard worn full and flowing, and dominated.

some brunette of "sweet six teen." A strict search is now being in stink ted for these men, and if found (they dia mised their uniforms with false regimen tal n. "mbers and letters) they will be severally dea. It with by General Burnside, who is greatly indignant at the outrage. The letters with by General Burnside, who is greatly indignant at the outrage. The letter also states that these soldiers belonged to a Massachusetts regiment.—Now, whether they did or not is unknown; but the statement casts a reflection on the Massachusetts regiments which unknown; but the statement casts a reflection on the Massachusetts regiments which is most undeserved. There is a general impression that troops from the old Bay State are of abolition sympathies and tendencies, whereas the truth is that the Massachusetts abolitionists are now at home, and the Massachusetts Union men, whether Remblicans or Democrats, are here and

and the Massachusetts Union men, whether Republicans or Democrats, are here and elsewhere fighting the battles of their coun-try. It is significant that the regiments in this department hold Governor Andrews in tter contempt for his late proclamation. It is true that in these regiments there are few men of abolition principles, and one them here in Newbern used to lecture at Colyer's nigger meetings. But he and his fellow abolitionists are the subjects of continual ridicule among their comrades. If an enumeration were made to morrow, not one in fifty of our soldiers would prove to be an abolitionist, or of abolition symto be an abolitionist or of abolition sym-

The "most unkindest cut of all" in the The "most unkindest cut of all" in the letter, however, is the reflection contained in the first paragraph, where it is stated that the abolitionists have met with less favor under Governor Stanley than they did under General Burnside. Now, the writer must be perfectly unconsisted with writer must be perfectly unacquainted with General Burnside, and a complete stranger to his policy. I can but repeat here what I have written before, that Gen. Burnside, I have written before, that Gen. Burnside, in conducting the campaign in North Caroliná, has totally ignored slaves and slavery. Under the instructions from Washington, which have been given to all the generals of the Union army, he retains the slaves of disloyal men as contraband of war; but he does not restrain the loval master from
