SCARCITY OF CHANGE. There will be a meeting this forenoon at ten o'clock, at the Merchants Exchange, to consider the present scarcity of silver change. What the action of this assemblage is likely to be we have no intimation; but, we trust that no one will suggest the issning of shinplasters by individuals, as a remedy for the evil complained of. There are many who would gladly avail themselves of the present pressure to issue little promises to pay, and if such an issue were once commenced, there is no telling where or when it would stop.-Shinplasters, of small denomination, would simply have the effect of driving all silver change from circulation. The present scarcity may, in the sudden turn, monetary affairs sometimes take, soon be remedied, but if we resort to shinplasters our troubles will only be aggravated. But the meeting this morning will, doubtless, take the proper action in the matter, by disissues by associations or individuals. In observations from the New York Times : The annoyance arising from the present rent money, but from a lack of that which represents the fractional parts of a dollar.

Let the corporation of New York have prepared "checks" of a convenient sumen cents would probably be the best. Let these be exchanged by the City Treasurer and be issued in no other way. No increase in the amount of circulation would be made; every dollar in these "ohecks" would represent a dollar deposited with the Treasurer. These "checks" should be redeemable, upon presentation, in the same funds for which they were issued. They would, of course, have the same value as bank notes or treasury notes, because they could at any moment be exchanged for them—the funds for their redemption being beforehand in the possession of the Treasurer.

The consequence would be that every person whose business required him to imake change," would buy a quantity of these "checks." They would remain in circulation inst so long as the scarcity of and visionaries, and unworthy of the se.

we are warranted in saying that the Martinan Bank Note Company," the "American Bank Note Company," or the "New York Bank Note Company," would guar-

Appearance of a Rebel Fleet on the Savannah. We take the following from a letter to the New York Tribune, dated Fort Pulaski, 30th June: All things are quiet here, with the exceptions of a slight stir in the fort, occasioned by the appearance of three rebel steamers in the Savannah, above Wright River, on vertex days and the steamers in the Savannah, above Wright River, on yesterday norning. A few shots were fired from the fort, which kept them were fired from the fort, which kept them at a respectful distance. As it was supposed that a landing of troops had been made on Jones Island, where we had a battery of six pieces—all of which were removed after the taking of Pulaski—a party was sent up in the afternoon on a reconnoissance. Our men discovered quite a number on the other side of the island, near Mud River. They had been to the battery, and exploded their vengeance in destroying a tenantless building, erected destroying a tenantless building, erected for officers' headquarters, and cutting down the look-out. What else they intend

NORTHERN TREASON.

The Pittsburgh Gazette, and its correct their attention to the discovery and definioverlooked several interesting exhibitions of it of a radical and incumble character. For the benefit of the editor and his softbrained correspondent, we take the following brief extract from the late Fourth hope that they will preserve it among their collection of treasonable curiosities. The other day the New York World said something disparaging of the War Department, when our Pittsburgh simpleton immediately squealed out treason! Wendell Phillips, however, can denounce the government and the administration, and government and the administration, and throw all sorts of obstacles to discourage enlistments; and the pretentious editor of the Gazette has not a word to say in reprobation of his conduct. The solution or this glaring and criminal inconsistency is eyes of the President and the Cabinet to the true sentiment of the North. Fremont has been degraded by the Border States, but let us hope that, like Charles 11., he may die on his rightful throne. "I do not," said Mr. Phillips, "think that a majority of the North are ready to accept the policy of emancipation, but I think that President Lincoln knows that he can take any step in that direction, and millions of the North will follow him. What they want is a leader. Republicans are in the dare!" Jefferson Davis does less to break up this Union with his armies than Lincoln

Is it not somewhat remarkable that the Gazette, which pretends to support the President from imaginary opposition o more loyal papers than it is itself, should so overlook this open and defiant attempt of Phillips to discourage enlistments?-Will the Gazette be so obliging as to ex countenancing the proposed irresponsible plain this; and at the same time inform us whether its silence upon the subject is to this connection we direct the attention of be taken as an endorsement of Phillips the merchants' meeting to the following suggestions. SENSIBLE VIEWS.

The following ideas upon the all absorbing negro question, from the Chronicle, of this city, are sound, pointed, and well expressed. They will command the attention of every thinking man, not blinded by prejudice or partizanship:

these "checks." They would remain in circulation just so long as the scarcity of specie continues, and when that is over, would be presented for redemption. The use of the money, in the meantime, and the unavoidable loss of more or less of the checks in the hands of holders, would amply repay the city for the cost of preparation, and the work of issuing and redeming them.

These "checks" would drive out all private "shinplasters." The number of these already issued—many of them by wholly irresponsible parties—is already large. We saw yesterday a collection, probably far from complete, which contained nincty-two different kinds. The use of these, and the necessity of buying specie at a-premium, would be obviated by the large and the vested the measurement of the series of the politicians were so smitten with one-idea in sanity. that they vested the work of single of the series of the politicians were so smitten with one-idea in specie continued firing until the curve cocted in the brains of dreaming theorists sel, scontinued firing until the curve cocted in the brains of dreaming theorists shell may common sense statesman. The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2 of clock, from the residence of her busband, No. 1 of the proposition of the series of blacks, why, then, we had be the contest at once, and the proposition of the proposition of the series of the serie tained ninety-two different kinds. The use of these, and the necessity of buying specie at a premium, would be obviated by the issue of "checks" such as we have suggested; and the gain in every department of business would be immense.

tively seem as though some of our noisy-politicians were so smitten with one-iden insanity, that they vested the whole salvation of the country on the mustering in of ten or twenty thousand blacks. If suggested; and the gain in every department of business would be immense.

Probably the best form for these "checks" would be that of a third of the size of an ordinary bank note. These should be printed ten on a sheet, which should be perforated like the sheets of postage stamps. These could be prepared postage stamps. These could be prepared at short notice. From personal inquiry we are warranted in saying that the "National Rank Note Company 2 the "American Rank Note Company 2 the "National Rank Note Company use to the army; free and employ al slaves of rebels who come within our antee to get up the plates and commence delivering the "checks" in a week. The issue of them would save thousands of dollars a day to the public.

If the corporation of the city cannot undertake this work at once within our streets of the property which belongs to red-mouthed rebels, if you please; make war in real, sober earnest as the rebels make it; quarter and support our armies off the territories of the enemy; make them feel the sufferies of port our armies on the territories of the enemy; make them feel the sufferings of the civil war which their hate and folly have brought upon the country; compel them to pay the whole expense of the war, and even drive them from the country, rather then parmit them to caure and de-rather than permit them to sever and de-stroy the Union—all this, we believe, would meet the approbation of the people. Kindness, clemency, and generosity have been stretched so far by our government that it has become actual weakness and cause of universal complaint, but don't be guilty of the madness of dividing the North, driving off all the Border States, and setting one party against the other, in order ting one party against the other, in order to carry out an idea, or measure, which, if adopted, would not only not strengthen but actually ruin our cause. What wisdom would there be in enrolling and

A Shrewd Speculation in Carbines. The Holt and Owen investigation has pondent "True American," having turned developed some extraordinary frauds which marked the period termed by the tion of Northern treason, seem to have commission the Saturnalia of Speculators." One of the most rascally was that consummated by one Simon Stevens, in selling 5,000 Hall's carbines to Major Gen. Fremont. Stevens sold the carbines to of July oration of Wendell Phillips, and of the West, by telegraph, on the 5th of August, 1851, at $12 each. At that time these carbines were in the United States Arsenal at New York, and were the prop-Arsenal at New 10rk, and were the property of the Government, rejected from the service and ordered to be sold! On the 7th of August, two days after Stevens sold them to Fremont, they were bought from the Government at $3.50 each; and though the condition on which Gen. Fremont hought them was that they hought them was that they hought them was that they hought them.
