THE ANDREWS PATENT PIPE. (PATENTED JANUARY 21, 1562.) prove its incomparable superiority to any pipe now in use. It may be smoked without any deleterious or unpleasant effects, as the oil of to-bacco is not drawn into the mouth, and the tongue does not become furred or coated from inhaling its poismous properties. The bowl is made of the finest Devonshire clay, and gives to the to-bacco a peculiarly pleasant fragrance. The to-bacco cannot become moiet, as in ordinary lines, because the drip beneath receives the salivat that insensibly escapes into the stem; hence the pipe never becomes offensively rank, and the breath of the snoker does not proclaim to, every one he meets that he has been 'industring in a pipe."

When the bowl becomes closed, or the drip beneath requires cleansing, the pipe may be taken apart by removing the rian. The clay bowl may at any time he re-tored to its crisinal whitoness by burning in the fire, (this drying it thoroughly) or a new bowl may be procured of the dealer.

Trom personal experience, we know it to be a control of the pipe:
