Induced by the extensive sale and universal popularity of Hoofland's German Bitters, (purely vegetable) hosts of ignorant quacks and unserupulous adventurers, have opened upon suffering humanity the flood gates of Nostrums in the shape of poor whisky, vilely compounded with injurious drugs, and christened Tonics, Stomachies and Bitters.

Although not disposed to favor or recommend Patent Medicines in general, through distrust of their ingredients and effects. I yet know of no sufficient reason why a man may not testify to the benefit he believes himself to have received from any simple preparation in the hope that he may thus contribute to the benefit of others.

I do this the more readily in regard to Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, of this city, because I was prejudiced against them for many years, under the impression that they were chiefly an alcoholic mixture, Esq. for the removal of this prejudice by proper cests, and for enceuragement to try them, when suffering from great and long continued debility. The use of three bottles of these Bitters, at the beginning of the present year, was followed by evident relief, and restoration to a degree of soodly and mental vigor which I had not felt for ix months before, and had almost depaired of remaining. I therefore thank food and my friend for firecting me to the use of them.

DR. JACKSON-DEAE S.R.:—I have been fr quently requested to connect my name with commendations of different kinds of medicine, but regarding the "nactice as out of my appropriate sphere, I have n all cases declined; but with a clear proof in various instances, and particularly in my own family, of the usefulness of Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, I depart from my usual course, to express my full conviction that for general debility of the system, and especially Liver Complaint it is a safe and valuable preparation. In some cases it may fail, but usually I doubt not it will be very beneficial to those who suffer from the above causes. GERMANTOWN, June 1, 1861.

DR. C. M. JACKSON - Sir:—It gave me pleasure, wo years ago, to give you a certificate, testifying nat the German Bitters had done for me. I am ow perfectly cured of all those diseases your redicine professes to cure, vir. Dyspopsia, Chronic and Nervous debility, disease of the Kidneys, te. The powerful influence it exerts upon Norvous prostration is surprising. I have been consulted frequently in reference to your Bitters, and without hesitation, have recommended it for the above complaints, and in every instance it has effectually cured. Your medicine has a great reputation in Germantown, and is sold in every Drug Store, and in most of the Grocery stores here. If any one should question what I say, let them come to Germantown, and I will prove to their satisfaction, that the Bitters have cured in this vicinity more than twenty cases of the above diseases.

Dr. C. M. JACESON—Dear Sir. While in Virginia, owing to the change of water, I was taken with a severe diarrhea, which seemed incurable, and which greatly weakened me. When we eached Martinsburg, I feared I should have to ome home; but noticing some of your Bitters in the store Mr. H. H. Price, in that town, I purhased a supply, and on taking it was speedily restored to health. The diarrheas was quickly checked, and I experienced no return of it. A number of my comrades, who suffered in the same manner and from the same cause, with whom I shared the Bitters, join me in this certificate. I expect to return to the seat of war with the Legnon, and shall certainly take a supply of the Bitter in my knapsack. I would not be without it rits weight in gold, particularly on going into a mestone region.

MARTIN VAN BUREN. Interesting Reminiscences -- Mr.

Van Buren's Unpublished Me-Mr. William Allen Butler, of this city, ontributes to the Independent some inter-sting reminiscences of Martin Van Buren e copy a few passages; Jackson and Van Buren. "Just here, General Jackson's first imressions of Mr. Van Buren are in place They met, in 1822, at Washington, as Senators of the United States. The Tennessee parrative, as I listened to it under the porch of the Hermitage in 1814. I had heard a good deal about Mr. Van Buren, said the General, especially about his non-committalism. I made up my mind that I would take an early opportunity to hear him and judge for myself. One day an important subject was under debate in the Senate. I noticed that Mr. Van Buren was taking notes while one of the Senators was speaking.

ren was taking notes while one of the Senators was speaking. I judged from this that he intended to reply, and I determined to be in my seat when he spoke. His turn came, and he rose and made a clear, straightforward argument, which, to my mind, disposed of the whole subject. I turned to my colleague, Major Eaton, who sat next to me: 'Major,' said I, 'is there anything non companies. said 1, is there anything non-committal about that? 'No, ir, said ke. This decision of Jackson's head was never reversed by his heart.

Mr. Van Buren's Personal Traits. "After all, it is not the lawyer nor the statesman, but the man, of whom we must take the final account. Mr. Van Boren, in his personal traits, was marked by a rare individuality. He was a gentieman, and he entityated the society of gentleman.

men. He never had any associates who were variable values. He affected companie ...ship of men of letters, though I think his conclusion was that they are apt to make poor politicians and not the best of friends. Where he acquired that peculiar neatness and polish of manners which he wore so lightly, and which served every turn of domestic, social and public intercourse. I do not know. As patitic intercourse, I do not know. As far as my early recollections go it was not indigenous in the social circles of Kinderhook. I do not think it was essentially Dutch. It could hardly be called naturally ral, although it seemed so natural to him. It was not put on, for it was never put off ways cheered, always self-possessed. It seemed to any one who studied this phase

As you saw him once you saw him always -always ponentitions, always polite, alway of his character as if, in some early mo-ment of destiny, his whole nature had been bathed in a cool, clear and unruiled depth, from which it drew this lite-long screanty and sele-control. It was another of the charges against him that he was no democrat. He dressed too well, he lived too well, the company he kept was too good, his tastes were too refined, his tope was too elegant. So far as democracy is appropriate have an elective afficity supposed to make an elective affecty with dark this was all true; he was no domo-eral in facte or feeling, and be never pre-tended to be. The only President who ever betraye i the American people is the only one of whom I remember to have seen it chronicled in the newspapers, as a proof of his democracy, that he made a proof of his democracy, that he made a B - RGAIN-A conformely two-story dwelfproof of his democracy, that he made a parade of getting out of a stage couch in the course of a hot journey and washing this face in a tin basin and drying it on a tavern towel. The people thought no better of him for that piece of deception, which deceived nobody.

"Mr. Van Barennover played such ticks as these. As to the chements of the widest popularity, they were not in him. He inspired entities may be a decepted him as a heart.
