It is a substitute of the provocation and wrongs inflicted by families by ambition, by desire full attendance is therefore desired. THOMAS FARLEY,

Chairman.

To properly understand the correspondence between the Secretary of State and the chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee of Pennsylvania, it is necessary to know the causes which prompted it. Mr. Hughes, as chairman of the Committee referred to, has issued two years alle addresses to the people of the State, which seem to have alarmed that plain, honest and an assuspecting people are impreed upon by North American and the Press of that city have denounced these addresses as treasonable and recommended the arrest not only of Mr. Hughes, but of the entire Committee of which he is chairman. They exhibit the disloyalty complained of, but adulation of himself, which he has pubconfined themselves to loud and vehement lished here in the hope of assisting assertions. - Mr. Hughes very properly himself to a seat in the next Congress. submitted his addresses to the first officer The emptiest things niways reverberate of the Cabinet, for him to pass judgment the loudest sound, and this speech of so libersily as those now in the service of upon them and say whether they were Johnston is an additional illustration of the United States, leaving out of the questreasonable or not. The Secretary, in his reply to Mr. Hughes, incidentally remarks erty and the rights of man. with as that he has read the documents "with a much shamelessness as if he had not at the close of the war. If the Hon. Secretary had given this advice a year and a half ago to his own not need its repetition now. But they began patronage of the government with such haste and rapidity as was never known before, even in times of peace. This was composed of all the corrupt backs who tempt made to arrest the monster calamity Curtin. which has overtaken us. Mr. Seward was then in the Senate, the avowed leader of his party, and in that trying period he Three Hundred Thousand More. He thinks now that the discussion of abolition can do no good. It is extraordinary that his quick perception was not struck that his quick perception was not struck enterprised by the people. The Union men are rejoiced at the determination of the Government; and the most violent secessionthat his quick perception was not struck with this before. The late Congress did nothing else but discuss it, and yet he never offered an objection. The most radical proceedings were indulged in—and to some of which he was opposed—still he most and every rebel in Memphis has dropped his lower jaw an inch and a half since yesterday. suade his party from their enactment. He has told the country, in public speeches and in letters, that his only wish is to see the Union restored, and still he remained quiet while combinations of his party were laboring to produce its eternal separation. He saw the majority in Congress passing sets in direct conflict with the President's avowed purposes in prosecuting the war, and never murmured; and he now hears of Phillips and his set openly proclaiming their opposition to enlistments unless the President change the policy of the government to suit their purposes, and no official be buried, but the first favorable breeze shall be drafted. He says he has paid milis about to restrain their utterances. The truth is, our distinguished Premier has they most do fear."

To the People of Philadelfor a great mass meeting about to be held

Allow me to say that the address of the committee has been much assailed by leading and influential journals, conducted by ose who claim to be your political iends. The denunciation has been so lecided as to pronounce it treasonable. Whether or not it is treasonable, you can best determine if you read it. It is lengthy, and may take up too much of your time, but the address issued by my self this day is comparatively short, and as it states positions sufficiently to determine the character of the former, it will relieve you of labor if you will read the latter.

As the address of the committee, as well as that by myself, as chairman, are both from my own pen, I should bear the greater part of whatever reproach should attach to their publication. Still, allow me to ssure you that they contain the sentiments of not less than three hundred thousand of the men of Pernsylvania, and I believe of over one million of men in the Central States of New Jersey, Pennsylvania, New York, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. I will dd, too, that there is no other million of men in the whole country of more devoted patriotism and loyalty.

I will add, that I believe this million of nen will, amid political changes, remain patriotic and loyal. If you will read one or both of the enclosed addresses, and if, in connection with facts I have stated in regard to their supporters, it will stimu-late you or serve in any degree to promote a policy on the part of the administration of President Lincoln to put down the demon of abolitionism, my sole object in addressing you this (perhaps presumptuous) note shall be more than abundantly obtained. At all events, rest assured that I address you with the profound respect due your high personal and official F. W. Hrenes. THE TRICK OF A DEMA-GOGUE.

Certain publications in the newspape press of this city, that appeared yesterday and this morning, denounce myself as a sympathizer with Secessionism, and charge me with being an aid to the traitor Breckinridge. Did these attacks reflect only on myself, they would be a matter of very insignificant import, but holding as I do a highly important political relation to s vast body of the freemen of Pennsylvania deem it proper that I should reply to these attacks by a statement of the follow-

Atthat time the position of Breckinridge was that of a loyal and patriotic man, and while it in no degree impeached the loyality of any delegate in those Convencions who supported him, but on the contrary, some who are now leading our armies in the field did support and vote for him in said Conventions, yet I supported Mr. Guthrie, as a Kentucky patriot who was calculated, as I believe, to better
